French Premier Goaded to Ask Confidence Vote

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure, angry and weary after 14 hours of non-stop debate, cut through the National Assembly's monumental confusion today and demanded a formal vote of confidence on his Algerian policies.

The demand for a formal vote of confidence which automatically stakes the life of his government in the outcome was a drastic move, but it gave him four days to manoeuvre. Much of the Assembly is hostile and he must win over the deputies before the formal vote on Tuesday if he is to survive.

Former Premier Paul Reynaud warned that a new cabinet crisis might lead to new elections in November and the absence of France from the Big Four conference at Geneva.

The angry premier ordered the vote shortly after 5 a.m. at end of a night long session which it appeared his attempts to win Assembly approval on a routine vote on his Algerian policy had no chance of success. Four days of politicking—and reluctance of some deputies to vote a government out of office—may increase his chances of success.

65 Today

President Eisenhower celebrated his 65th birthday today in hospital surrounded by gifts and flowers and with his medical bulletin containing word of another encouraging sign in his recovery from a heart attack. "His cardiogram has stabilized at a satisfactory level" it said.

Float Bridge For Okanagan

B.C.'s toll bridge authority is running into snags which may kill Premier W. A. C. Bennett's proposed bridge across Lake Okanagan between Kelowna and Westbank.

Engineers are working on plans for a pontoon bridge, after every other type of crossing was washed out by engineering studies.

The studies showed bridges of the cantilever and suspension type are not practical. They have also showed it would be impossible to make a fill causeway across the lake.

"A pontoon bridge is our last recourse," an informed source said today. He said plans call for an opening at one end of the bridge to allow boat and barge traffic to get through.

Kelowna and Westbank are now served by ferries.

'It's My Job' Says Tupper

VANCOUVER (CP)—R. H. Tupper, whose handling of his royal commission on police affairs has been criticized in newspaper editorials and by police chief Mulligan's lawyer, said Thursday: "It's my job. I am doing it. I take responsibility."

He made the statement in answer to a front-page editorial published by the Vancouver Sun, which asked Attorney-General Bonner to step in to bring the inquiry into the conduct and administration of the force to a successful conclusion.

Margaret Dines With Peter; No Statement Planned Now

Clarence House Asks for Privacy

LONDON (CP)—Clarence House, home of Princess Margaret and Queen Mother Elizabeth, issued a statement tonight declaring that no announcement concerning Margaret's personal future is contemplated at present.

The official statement added that Margaret had asked the Queen's press secretary to express the hope that the press and public will extend their "customary courtesy and co-operation in respecting her (Margaret's) privacy."

The statement was issued a short time after Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend left London separately for unannounced destinations.

Text of the statement follows:

"In view of the varied reports which have been published, the press secretary of the Queen is authorized to say that no announcement concerning Princess Margaret's personal future is at present contemplated."

"The Princess Margaret has asked the press secretary to express the hope that the press and public will extend to Her Royal Highness their customary courtesy and co-operation in respecting her privacy."

The Clarence House announcement was the first official statement in any way relating to Margaret's personal life since rumors of a romance and possible marriage to Townsend have become the talk of Britain.

MARGARET-PETER TRYST INSPIRED BY PHILIP?

LONDON (UP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is reported in court circles to be the Cupid who suggested Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend meet.

The worldly-wise Prince Philip, it was said, told Margaret, "you haven't seen this man in two years."

"Why don't you see him and see how you feel?" His advice led to Thursday night's meeting in Clarence House and to the dinner-tryst in Windsor Castle tonight.

ROMANCE SIDELIGHTS

Mob Swarms Around Home of Princess

LONDON (UP)—An excited crowd, drawn by banner headlines in the London newspapers, clustered outside Clarence House today.

Another crowd formed, under grey skies, at fashionable 19 Lowndes Square, where Townsend stayed until his departure this afternoon for tonight's dinner engagement with the Princess.

Stenographers and shop-girls hustled up to Clarence House during their lunch-hours and stared quietly at the curtained windows.

Police wouldn't let them come closer than 20 yards of the front door.

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden let it be known today he would pay his scheduled weekly call on Queen Elizabeth Tuesday.

He made the announcement from his country home.

Sir Anthony returns to London Monday.

The Queen comes home from Balmoral the same day.

LONDON (UP)—Buckingham Palace has an easy route by which it can deny or correct—without taking official cognizance—reports about Princess Margaret or any member of the Royal Family. That is by giving off the record "guidance" to the two reporters who are regularly stationed at the palace for Britain's two domestic news agencies.

These two men, the only journalists attached to the palace, then write on their own authority that there is no truth or foundation to the report in question.

At no time since the Townsend-Margaret reports began two years ago have the two palace correspondents ever been counselled to take it easy on a romance. Most significantly, they had no negative guidance today.

LONDON (UP)—A front door and a back door provided the setting of all Thursday night's drama at Clarence House, scene of the first public meeting in more than two years of Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Townsend.

The back door, marked "household officers," let Townsend into Clarence House. He had parked his car in the St. James Palace courtyard in the knowledge his red and white diplomatic licence plates would be recognized by the throng of reporters present. He used the back door because

Princess Speeds In Curtained Car To Windsor Meeting

By GENE PATTERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret went to dinner at Windsor with RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend tonight, giving open encouragement to the expectation that they are going to marry.

The lovely young Princess, dressed all in white, sped in a Royal black limousine from London to Windsor accompanied only by her youthful lady-in-waiting, Iris Peake.

Townsend had driven away from London earlier for a week-end at the Windsor country estate of Mrs. John Wills, Margaret's cousin and their common friend.

British press and public were swept by speculation.

Townsend's call on the Princess Thursday night at Clarence House was widely interpreted as a move calculated to prepare the people for a royal wedding announcement.

Today, crowds—mostly of women (and reporters)—besieged Clarence House, Princess Margaret's home in London and the nearby 19 Lowndes Square mansion, where Townsend is the guest of the Marquess of Abergavenny.

Without official guidance, the

'Good Luck,' Waiting Women Wave

When Townsend emerged at 2:50 p.m., eight policemen held back the staring, interested throng. Many of the women called "good luck." Grave and unsmiling, he said, "thank you."

But the 40-year-old hero pilot dodged reporters' questions, maintaining that "I cannot say anything."

He drove off alone in his green sports car, saying only that "I am going away for the week-end."

'He'll Be With Us Until Monday'

United Press staff correspondent Harold Willard telephoned the Wills house from a nearby village and asked how long Townsend would remain.

A servant checked and replied: "The group captain says he will be with us until Monday."

Back at the gate, the big policeman said, "I can't tell you anything, gentlemen."

But then, in a confidential tone and with a cherubic smile, he added:

"There's no way to get in or out of this place except these gates. So you don't have to worry about the Group Captain escaping. And you don't have to worry about getting in either, guv'nor."

HOUSEKEEPER SPEAKS FOR PETER TOWNSEND

LONDON (CP)—A housekeeper in a white smock, standing on a doorstep in Knightsbridge, today became the shy spokesman of Britain's royal romance.

She opened the door of the three-storey white stucco apartment where Group Capt. Peter Townsend is staying and said to a group of reporters:

"The group captain is going to have lunch here and will not be going out until about 2:30 this afternoon."

"Say that again," an American reporter shouted, and the housekeeper obliged.

Nylons Catch Eyes of Shy Red Sailors

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. (UP)—Some 3,000 Russian sailors from a Soviet goodwill fleet stocked up today on such capitalist trills as nylon stockings and ladies' silk underwear.

The Russian seamen took their cue from Valeria Mirkulov, 24, a cadet officer aboard the Soviet cruiser Sverdlov, and went on a wild shopping spree for presents for their wives and girlfriends back home.

"I think the English girls dress much more brightly than those in Russia," Mirkulov said.

A special store equipped with Russian translators reported nylons were going at the rate of five pairs a minute. The Russians also bought brightly colored scarves and frilly underthings.

The Russian sailors got a big reception when they came ashore for the first time Thursday. But one English girl said they are rather shy.

"They are very nice but I'm afraid they are much more reserved than our own sailors," said Diane Claxton, a Wren.

UN Vote on Council Vacancy Deadlocked

Russia Drops Poland as Candidate
For Yugoslavia; Filipinos Fight

By BRUCE W. MUNN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Russia and the United States wound up in a deadlock today in the United Nations' General Assembly, with neither able to obtain a required two-thirds majority vote for its candidate for a Security Council seat.

After six inconclusive ballots, Assembly president Jose Maza adjourned the meeting, on the suggestion of Britain and Russia. Both suggested that the Assembly should resume its voting next Tuesday.

Russia dropped its candidate, Poland, after five ballots and spread the word that it would accept Yugoslavia as an "Eastern European" candidate. This was ironic, since Yugoslavia's election over Czechoslovakia in 1949 was the first break in the 1946 "gentleman's agreement" that one non-permanent council seat should go to a Soviet-bloc country.

The Philippines, campaigning strenuously under the leadership of fiery Brig-Gen. Carlos P. Romulo with the backing of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., remained in the running.

The election procedure requires a two-thirds majority of countries present and voting. Abstentions may change the number of votes required for election from ballot to ballot.

Cuba, with 53 votes and Australia, with 42, were elected on the first ballot to succeed Brazil and New Zealand, respectively, on the council next Jan. 1.

The assembly also decided to postpone elections for vacancies on the economic and social council and the trusteeship council.

Observers foresaw a busy week-end of "horse-trading" involving seats on the other councils as Russia and the U.S. sought to nail down a majority for their respective Security Council candidates.

PUZZLERS PROVED LAX; PRIZE JUMPS TO $150

Thousands of Times' crossword puzzlers last week wrote the word "lax" in one of the three-letter spaces with the result that no one completed a correct solution.

Total prize for the popular contest this week, therefore, jumps to $150.

"Lax" was the right answer for three-letter puzzlers. The clue read: "—officials aren't likely to be particularly popular." Tax officials have an honest job to do and will only be particularly unpopular with tax dodgers. As far as people in general are concerned it is the lax official who is to be condemned.

"Meal" seemed to be just as difficult to arrive at, most contestants giving the answer as "meat." "Boss," "fit" and "lie" were other stumbling blocks.

Complete answer and explanation of last week's puzzle together with a new puzzle for this week are published on Page 25 of today's Times.

'Not Yet' Says Peter

'Happy' After Tete-a-Tete, Townsend Parries Newsmen

By ROBERT RICE, Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, (CP)—Group Captain Peter Townsend, escorted by four policemen through a crowd of several hundred people, this afternoon drove off alone for a week-end in the country.

"Not yet," was his reply when he was asked whether he had a statement on his reported romance with Princess Margaret.

But Townsend, asked after his nearly two-hour visit with the Princess Thursday night whether he was "happy," grinned at reporters and said "Yes."

"I am going away for the week-end," he told reporters today. "But I cannot say where I am going."

About 200 newspaper men and photographers, in addition to several hundred curious, were waiting when the 41-year-old

Clean Getaway

He carried a small briefcase and needed the help of four bobbies to battle through the crowds to his small French car. Then he was able to drive only a few feet at a time as people ran alongside the car asking questions.

Finally he made his way through the crowd and drove away in the opposite direction to Clarence House, where Margaret lives. The car was pursued by a number of reporters.

Happy? 'Yes!'

When Townsend emerged after last night's visit, a running interview with reporters brought these questions and answers:

"Did you have dinner with the princess and Queen Mother Elizabeth?"

"I can say nothing."

"Did you meet Princess Margaret?"

"I can say nothing."

"Do you expect to know soon what the future holds for you?"

"I cannot say."

SCOTTISH WEDDING?

Lawyers Could Find Shortcuts

LONDON (UP)—Constitutional lawyers have long agreed that a legal way is open for Princess Margaret to marry Peter Townsend. But some were suggesting shortcuts today.

For instance, Dr. C. D'O. Faran of the University of Liverpool law faculty, expressed the view that the 1772 Royal Marriage Act, which is thought to regulate Margaret's intentions, does not even apply to her.

But no theory with respect to that ancient law is proved, and Margaret is believed anxious to avoid appearing to dodge through loopholes in the law anyway, regardless how obsolete the statute.

The view generally accepted by legal experts and students of protocol who have studied the matter is that Margaret would be expected to renounce her royal rights in order to marry the divorced man.

This means:

1. She would abdicate her right of succession to the throne for herself and her descendants. Margaret is now third in line of succession behind Prince Charles and Princess Anne.
2. She would give up her right to be a councillor of state.
3. She could not act as regent if Charles succeeded to the throne before he is 18.
4. Parliament would cancel her allowance, which now is about $16,800 annually, and would amount upon suitable marriage to $42,000 a year.

Whatever the legal difficulties, no obstacle was expected to be put into the path of a Townsend-Margaret marriage should Margaret seek permission.

The church was a separate matter. The Church of England refuses to countenance remarriage of a divorced person such as Townsend while his former mate still lives.

Thus Margaret and Townsend, both devout Anglican churchgoers, would not be recognized as husband and wife by their church regardless of the Townsend emerged from the home of the Marquess of Abergavenny where he has been staying since he arrived on Wednesday on vacation from his Brussels air attaché post.

Reporters eagerly asked him whether he had anything to say about reports of his romance with Margaret, whom he visited Thursday night.

"I am sorry, I cannot yet," he replied.

The inference was that there would be a statement eventually. Townsend is due back in London Monday afternoon.

autos but he made a clean getaway.

Townsend has been a marked man since he came to London on leave. His visit to Clarence House stirred feverish speculation that a "break" is coming in the suspense whether the princess intends to marry Townsend, a war hero who has known her since she was 13.

For all anybody outside the inner-circle could tell with any certainty, the princess may have said "yes," "no," or "let's just be friends."

"You realize how excited the public are about all this?"

"You can't imagine the state I am in myself."

"Will rumors of a royal romance be cleared up by the time your leave has ended and you return to Brussels?"

"I do not know."

"Are you happy tonight?"

"Yes," he said promptly with a grin.

That last answer did it, and the reporters sprinted for telephones.

TOWNSEND'S MOTHER BARS QUERIES

KINGSWOOD (UP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend's mother, grey-haired Mrs. Gladys Townsend, today refused to receive visitors in the little family cottage, Linhay, in this Somersetshire village 160 miles from London.

Her big black French poodle barked at anyone who approached.

From behind the closed door, Mrs. Townsend said, "I cannot say what Peter's intentions are."

"If there is an announcement to be made," she said, "then we had better wait until that day. Then we shall know."

Labor Won't Meddle With Royal Romance

MARGATE, Eng. (UP)—A member of the Labor party sought today to win party approval of the reported Royal romance between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend but was ruled out of order.

A resolution, submitted by an unidentified delegate to the Labor party national convention here asked the party to confirm "the right of a member of the proletariat to pursue matrimony with a member of the Royal family."

The motion was ruled out of order.

Most of the delegates treated it as a joke. Delegates laughed when they heard the announcement of the resolution and the chairman said, "I am glad your sense of humor is better than that of the sponsors."

PTA Parley To Sit Here For Two Days

A two-day mass meeting of PTA representatives from Southern Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands has been set for Tuesday and Wednesday at North Ward School and St. John's Parish Hall.

District PTA council spokesman, Mrs. Annie Gray, said today the regional meeting will be one of 17 held in points throughout B.C. in the near future.

Aim is to strengthen the role of the PTA as a provincial force as well as on a local level.

The conference will be open to the general public and attended by PTA members from Victoria district, Colwood, Happy Valley, Sooke, Jordan River, Langford, Metchosin, Pakena-Port Renfrew, Saanich district, Salt Spring and the Gulf Islands.

The leading figures concerned with organization are Mrs. B. R. Tupper, second vice-president of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation; Mrs. L. Horan, regional conference chairman of the BCP-PT; H. Whitfield, audio-visual chairman, BCP-PT; and Mrs. A. B. Thompson, president of Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council.

INTERPRET ROLE

Theme of the conference will be "Organizational Problems."

Discussions will attempt to interpret the role of the provincial group to member associations, give information and instruction to officers, give suggestions for program planning and demonstrate procedures in audience participation.

The program begins with registration at 7 p.m. Tuesday at North Ward. Following introductions there will be films and discussion and a social. Wednesday at 10 a.m. there will be registration at St. John's Parish Hall followed by training groups for executives and a problem clinic after lunch.

All local PTAs have been asked to ensure attendance of both parents and teachers, and district principals will be asked to attend.

Lutherans To Build Own Church

A new $25,000 Lutheran Church is to be erected on Fort Street, near Moss, opposite Central Junior High School, will be built by members of the congregation.

The congregation originally planned to have a contractor build the church, but at a recent meeting decided to construct and equip the building themselves. The volunteer workers will be under direction of Rev. Paul Hoch.

Construction of the building, designed by architects Clack, Clayton, Pickston, will start next week.

The church will be 100 feet long and 36 feet wide with altar and choir space at the south end. It will seat 150 persons and will include accommodation for Sunday school.

Externally, the church will combine panels of wood beneath high windows which will form continuous side lighting under a low protective room. The walls will be stucco finished.

Christ Church Canvass Opens

Some $30,000 of the goal of $250,000 in Christ Church Cathedral's combined funds canvass has already been pledged, it was announced following a keynote dinner at Central Junior High School Thursday night, attended by 672 parishioners.

Sixty canvassers will start personal calls Monday, following a canvassers' dinner at Memorial Hall Saturday night at 6 p.m. They will ask the 1,200 member families of the parish to pledge in weekly envelopes over a 150-week period.

Of the total goal, $100,000 will be earmarked for completion of the west front towers and the balance for church operations for the next three years. There will be no further canvass.

$30,000 FOR REPAIRS

Speaking on cathedral plans at Thursday night's dinner, Mr. Frank T. Fairey, MP, told the audience that, of $214,000 pledged in the last campaign, $30,000 had to be utilized for unforeseen church repairs. Gutters had to be replaced, roof leaks fixed, and stone pointed up.

"This was a severe blow but your committee realized it had to be done," Dr. Fairey said. "Your cathedral is now in good shape."

Hugh Henderson, canvass committee chairman, explained that the drive would run from Oct. 17 to Nov. 5 and emphasized that "this generation must do its bit towards completion of our cathedral."

OLDEST COMMUNION

Christ Church Cathedral parish is "the oldest Anglican communion on the Pacific Coast of North America," publications chairman Stuart Keate told the meeting.

"It seems to me that we have a two-fold duty to our new Dean, Brian Whitlow, who has been plunged into the middle of this tremendous campaign," Mr. Keate observed.

"First, we must extend to the Dean and his family the warm hand of friendship, inherent in our traditional Western hospitality. Second, we must manifest our support of him by giving him the solid endorsement of a spirited and faithful congregation. In so doing, we will be discharging our obligations to the pioneer builders of the past."

P. D. Sills reported on pre-canvass pledges by campaign workers, which now total $30,000.

Messages were read from Archbishop Harold E. Saxon, who was absent because of illness, and from Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, VC, MP, general chairman of the drive.

E. W. Arnott, initial gifts chairman, presided over the dinner and paid special tribute to the Hostess Committee under Mrs. Carl Gonnason, which

Warning From the Bank

NORMALLY TWO INCREASES in the Canadian bank rate within a few weeks would be taken as a strong warning against the danger of inflation. But so far there has been no public sign of anxiety on that score in Ottawa.

In raising the rate which it charges private banks for loans the Bank of Canada may be moving merely to keep interest rates here abreast of those in the United States.

The American rate has been pushed upward somewhat to exercise a mild brake on excessive credit and thus to counter the reviving forces of inflation. If Canadian rates fell below those of the United States, investors would be encouraged to withdraw their money from Canada and invest it in more profitable American securities.

This possibility no doubt was a large factor in persuading the Bank of Canada to raise its rate. But there may be other factors not publicly stated.

Until now Ottawa has insisted that Canada faces no inflationary threat since prices have been remarkably stable during the last year or two. It is difficult to believe, however, when the United States, Britain, western Europe and even the communist countries are compelled to adopt deflationary policies, that Canada will long remain immune to this general climate.

At the moment some of the ingredients of a future inflation certainly are present. Our industry is operating virtually at capacity. There is no significant unemployment in a national sense. Our economy is producing at its physical limits and the demand for all kinds of manufactured goods is higher than ever.

But a large deflationary pressure is present also. We have on hand vast quantities of grain which cannot be sold and turned into money. A substantial chunk of current wealth is sterilized for the time being.

No doubt the Federal Government will arrange somehow to finance the prairie farmers until their crops are marketed but these internal arrangements cannot alter the fact that export crops have no value until they are sold. In economic terms, therefore, though not in physical terms, an important segment of our productive apparatus is temporarily stalled.

In addition, the Government expects the usual winter slackness of a cold climate to slow down many industries a few months hence. We shall experience some unemployment before spring and this factor, like the farm problem, will operate against inflationary pressures.

In the long run we shall inevitably inherit inflation from our great British and American trading partners if they cannot cure it at home. Our price structure cannot be insulated from that of foreign nations with which we trade in massive volume. Canadian fiscal policy can moderate but can never eliminate these influences.

In a pretty gentle fashion the latest rise in the bank rate apparently is intended to exercise a moderate influence on the credit system. That influence must be indirect since the central bank has no legal power to control the credit policies of the private banks. They are not generally borrowing from the central bank and hence do not have to pay the new and higher interest rate.

The indirect effect of central bank policy, however, is always powerful. The private banks have been warned against excessive credit and they will heed the warning.

The Canadian housewife may not understand the mechanics of the money system but she will be watching the prices at the stores. Nobody knows, of course, whether they will move up or down in the next year and the recent behaviour of the stock market suggests that even experts are puzzled about these prospects.

No Cash in the Till?

THE LATEST POLICE ADVICE, to keep no sizeable sum of money in cash registers for fear it may be stolen, is no doubt logical under the circumstances. But it implies a situation something less than perfect. It implies that the only way a storekeeper can keep from being robbed is to avoid having anything worth taking.

Of recent months there has been a number of robberies, armed or otherwise, in this community. The raided premises have included restaurants, shops, a milk bar, a newspaper and other local businesses. None of these cases, so far as is known, has been solved. The bandits have escaped with their loot and the incident has faded from the public mind, to be replaced eventually by a fresh one.

The question naturally arises, why have there been no arrests and convictions? As an island community, we should be in a much more favorable position than mainland centres to cope with fleeing gunmen. Have we not a large enough force of experts to handle the job; should the force invest in more intensive training courses? Is Victoria becoming known as an "easy mark" for thugs who want a quick haul with little risk?

The list of unsolved mysteries is growing. The police force must know that the public is becoming increasingly restive on this matter. In brief, we are paying for protection but we are not getting it.

Canadian Writers

IN YEARS PAST, THE PUBLICATION of a book by a Canadian author was something of an event. This week The Times has on its literary desk five new works—the second volume of Donald Creighton's monumental study of Sir John A. Macdonald; "The Struggle for the Border," by Victorian Bruce Hutchison; "Cousin Elva," by the Saint John editor, Stuart Treiman; "Man's Emerging Mind," by Norman J. Berrell of Montreal; and "The Cashier," by Gabrielle Roy of Montreal and Paris, whose "The Tin Flute" was a large critical and popular success a few seasons ago.

The range of interests of these authors covers history, science, humor and fiction. Any one of them would be an asset for a bibliophile's shelves, with or without a special interest in Canadiana.

The point is that Canadians are writing, and writing well, out of their own experience. They are producing books in ever-increasing numbers, and of admirable quality.

It is good to be reminded, in this way, that our national economic expansion is being matched—if not exceeded—by a lively cultural development. Canada is "coming of age" in more ways than one.

Nest-Egging for a Nuclear Hatch

BITAIN'S CENTRAL ELECTRICITY Authority has just announced the highest profit it has made in any year since nationalization in 1948—and electricity rates are apparently going up again.

This increase on top of profit is favored by Lord Citrine, chairman of the authority, as a means of nest-egging now for the high cost of nuclear reactors which Britain plans to use for power generation starting in 1960.

From a distance—that is to say from the viewpoint of those who do not have to pay British power and light bills—the policy seems to be a forward-looking method of avoiding huge expenditure in a lump sum for costly reactors. What is put aside now over and above electrical operating expenses will automatically lower the load placed on customers when the equipment is financed. Presumably the current profits will save a great deal in interest charges.

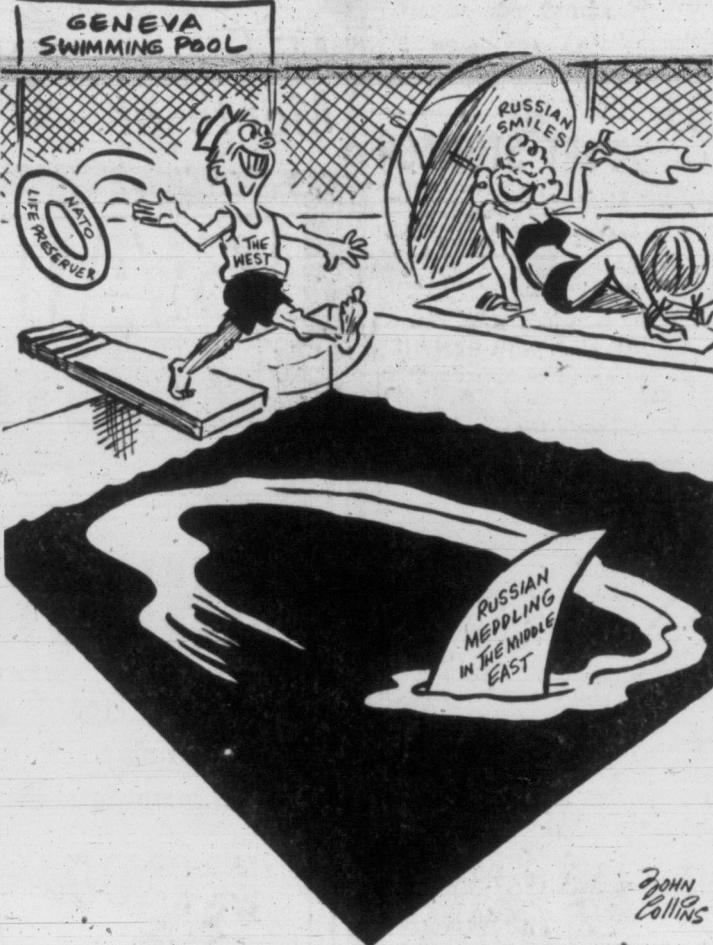

Their allocation to a reserve fund is justified by the chairman on the grounds that the cost of electricity has risen only 30 per cent above prewar levels, whereas coal (from which Britain's electricity is produced) has gone up 270 per cent. Moreover, the British public seems well pleased with the Central Electricity Authority for the service it is rendering and may look upon the proposals of Lord Citrine with kindly eyes.

The scheme is interesting. Conventionally the public might be expected to look for a rate cut when earnings are as favorable as they seem to be in Britain's electrical field, and particularly where production is under public ownership. On the other hand Britain stands committed to the use of nuclear power stations in the future. Their costs are still in question, but they will be high at least at the start.

So the practical-minded Briton, often called old-fashioned, is proceeding not only to set the pace in developing mass power supplies from nuclear fission, but is showing a clear-headed way to finance the job. The plan may not be as applicable elsewhere. It nevertheless promises to fill the bill for the Central Electricity Authority in a way that seems almost painless as well as thrifty.

Let's Not Go Off the Deep End

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

THE great Dr. Norman Vincent Peale was writing an article the other day. Nothing odd about this, so far. He writes them all the time. A great many of them seem to be on how to relax, how to avoid that old devil stress, and so on.

How Dr. Peale relaxes while writing so many articles is just one of those mysteries. Certainly he doesn't relax by having somebody else write them. In the articles about Dr. Billy Graham which appeared recently in Weekend Magazine, it was said that Dr. Graham doesn't exactly write his own daily column. It is made of "material" which is "assembled" for him, and he then "works it over."

But Dr. Peale's articles sound like the Old Reliable Peale to me, from the word "go." I mean, from the word "relax." Even some of the arguments are mighty relaxed.

DR. PEALE, you will easily recall, is the prophet of Positive Thought. And he has got so good at it, he is probably the only man I can think of right now who manages to sound too positive and too relaxed at the same time. Yep, and he can feel just dandy and also feel downright worried at the same time, too. Well, sir, in this particular article, Dr. Peale was telling me that tension and stress and strain are playing hob with me. They are filling me with bad chemistry. (All right, don't tell me you've heard this before. We all have. But just wait and see what's coming.) I had always thought that a certain tension and springiness was one of my few good qualities. . . . watches and clocks and myself feel all the better for being wound up, and tell better time that way. . . . but our mainsprings, and we're not half the going concerns that we once were. However, I was wrong. The first thing I've got to do is drop myself on the floor a few times and disconnect my tension. (Boing!)

JUST for the sake of argument and positive thought, I'll accept Dr. Peale's theory that I'm too keyed up. But I am darned if I will accept his cure for my tension and stress and strain and all. Do you know what that man wants me to do? Why, he says I must become a joiner. Not a cabinet-maker, you understand, but a fellow who gets out and belongs to everything. Yup, he says a man who is ingrown is a man full of stress, tension, and illness. (Why? Surely he is better insulated against outside people and things?) So the thing to do (in order to relax, mind you) is to get as many outside interests as you can.

"A person with a hundred interests is twice as alive as one with only fifty, and four times as alive as the man who has only twenty-five," says Doc Peale. And he seems to feel that the more "alive" you are in this manner, the more relaxed you'll be.

YOU can picture a man coming home for dinner on a Friday night and saying to his wife, "Dear, I feel half dead. That's because I've been to only fifty committee meetings this week instead of a hundred." I once knew a woman who found she was going to fifteen meetings a week, and she claimed it was driving her nuttier than a vegetable. Little did she know. What she needed was another 45 meetings a week. She was only 15 per cent alive. That made her feel tense.

Doc Peale says that if my interests are confined to my food, my home, my business, my clothes, and my immediate family, I am encased in a prison of myself. I am, you might say, as jittery as a cloistered monk. What I should try to do is to be as calm as a buster with a hundred interests. I should throw off this monkish fever and frenzy, and settle down into the deep peace of the Men's Auxiliary, to the Community Abundant Living League.

IF you would be free from nervous tension, widen your interests, broaden yourself. There is a rich world around you of books, paintings, music, sports, and most important, other people. Well, that's not many items, out of a perfect score of a hundred interests. But he just mentions a few, to give you an idea. Discover this rich world, says he, and you will find health and peace. I wonder.

Some of the most peaceful people don't give a hoot if they ever read another book or even write one. And some of the most frantic people I know are in a state of chronic anxiety lest they overlook some reading matter which is what they call a "must." . . . and lest they miss an interesting conversation about the wretched stuff after they've read it, too, or even before they've read it. As for music, it may be a lot of things. . . . in fact, it IS a lot of things. . . . but it isn't quiet. Anything but. There is far too much music in the world. In heaven, according to one Italian composer whose name escapes me, you will be allowed music only as a special treat.

AS for the utter peacefulness of sports, well, I'll be a pressed duck! The hockey player lying in his zone on the ice may be in a deeper coma than the mean-faced and hysterical spectators who pay him, but in his own way he too suffers from the tension of a man with only about fifty interests. I've seen hockey players with only one interest, and it wasn't the puck either. No, this subject isn't half so easy and simple as Dr. Peale thought it was at first. We're going to need a lot more articles. And we're going to get them, too. A hundred such articles ought to give me a hundred interests. Depending on what you mean by interest.

As Our Readers See It

BOOMERANG

It is refreshing to note that the Bennett back to nature again. The Bennett rash he had was a bit disconcerting.

We get many a chuckle on Mr. Bennett's behalf. He is a perfect "boomerang" to the Coalition, who actually elected him, or maneuvered him into the position he now has.

Wouldn't it be terrible if he deflated the inflated Liberal dollar—as he has their ego? We dare say, within a reasonable period of time, as the Liberal wind now blows, the inflated dollar will deflate itself, leaving the Canadians on a cold and draughty limb, in the usual old party custom.

NO BANANA BELT

One of the officials responsible for the Gulf Steamship ferries recently stated as far as transportation companies are concerned, Vancouver Island's winter season extends through October to the month of May.

No doubt, tourists benefit local trade and employment, but perhaps we depend too much on the short season American one-day tripper.

Many of our own Canadians east of the Rockies are well off financially from oil and wheat incomes. So with some off-season attractions many would stay here all winter.

I would suggest erection of a steam-heated winter garden below the Dallas Road section.

The Holland Point model boat pool idea is OK, but why not stock it too with assorted small fish where our own and visitors' children supervised, could enjoy that pastime for a minimum fee?

The little people get a real thrill in fishing if only a bullhead is caught.

There are several sheltered bays on the waterfront, if enclosed and the sea water made warm in the afternoon for swimming, would attract many for several months in the year. No doubt Times readers have other ideas that would encourage winter tourists.

SMILIN THROUGH

One is inclined to think that Dr. Hans Gruber touched a lost cord in his article in Saturday's Times. However, as the valley to the mountain top, so we to the podium—in awe! Yet, in all courtesy, are not sight and sound synonymous with musical interpretation?

We see as well as hear in music. Breathes there a man with soul alone and neither of flesh, nor blood, nor bone? With never a gesture, born-of grace, to mark his time, his pause, his place?

Truly, music floweth from the beating heart and magic hands of Dr. Gruber who, unbending as he does, promises both smiles and sound, if only to fill the sacred precincts set apart for his talented performances.

Sotto voce: Can we trust, too, the time will come when our beloved Doctor will appear in the longer locks associated with his profession in the past? Thus to enter more fully into the physical features of musical background and, in keeping with the spirit of his genius, delight both our eye and ear in the majestic sweep of his artistry.

The mysteries of sight and sound we cannot neglect. Their relationship is basic to each other and is wrapped up in human nature. As point and counterpoint they express opposites, yet complement one another.

After all, a colorful setting is what the public want. In addition to the haunting and elusive melodies of a great concerto. Witness a scarlet lined cape in a civic incumbency.

It would seem that to dress the podium in a modicum of accentuated emotional appeal could result in a larger audience, coupled with an abiding faith in, and understanding of, music as a whole and symphony in particular. Bona si sua norint. Maestro, take it away!

Speaking of Form . . .

As an admirer of Centaur's reports of the horse racing it grieves me very deeply to see him fall into the error which seems so glibly followed by some alleged racing writers in this part of the country, i.e. that because the favorites are not winning the horses are not running to form—or conversely that because some long prices are paid that the horses are not running to form, or again, if favorites are winning that the horses ARE running to form.

As established by racing statistics the world over, the public—as a betting fraternity—establishes the wrong horse as favorite (i.e. a non-winner) on two out of three occasions. In other words, the public betting favorites win, roughly, one third of races. But this by no means should be interpreted that horses do NOT run to form.

As an old horse starter I have seen a horse, on its first start against established racers, installed as a very short-priced favorite, just because someone spread the rumor it was a "good thing." Just because it finished last is no reason to say the horse did not run to form, since there actually was no form of any kind available on the horse.

By the same token I have seen a horse brought from a different part of the country, or even on its first start, win at very long odds. Again this result does not mean the horse was not running to form—simply, the public bettors did not know what its form was.

In a handicap race the racing secretary attempts, by weights, to arrange, theoretically, that every horse in the race will finish dead level at the wire. But the public, in betting, establishes a so-called favorite. It can well be that the longest shot in the race, in the betting, gets the racing luck and wins the race. But again this horse is running to form, since so far as humanly possible he was handicapped to run level with every other horse in the race. Just because the public did not bet on him doesn't mean he didn't run to FORM.

I can cite a hundred instances to destroy this glib phrase that long prices mean horses are not running to form. Often a horse which is getting nowhere running, will say for $1,500, suddenly drops to a $1,000 claiming race. The public usually will make him a favorite if he has shown any skill at all in the higher class of race and complain bitterly if he is defeated.

The real fact may be that his owner, or trainer, was too proud of the horse in the first place and was entering him well over his head. Just because they finally realized this fact and dropped him down where he belongs does not necessarily make him the "form" horse to win that race. Or, vice versa, he might be the "form" horse in the cheap race even though nowhere in higher class.

The time that a horse does not run to form is when he runs down the field in the same company for three or four races and suddenly wins by four or five lengths when there are no particular mishaps or weight changes in the race. The horse might be an even-money favorite when he does this, because there is some skulduggery afoot—so the amount he pays in the mutuels has nothing to do with the case.

In other words, what I would like Centaur to understand is that the mutuel price paid by a horse has really only a very minor relation to the question of whether horses are running to form.

Had the horse Cocos on Monday run a bad last it could have been taken as a sharp reversal of form, although even that could have been due to the particular condition of the track at the time. And again, that was a handicap in which the racing handicapper had endeavored to put the horses level. So it could only be a form reversal if he ran a very bad last. SCIENTIFIC LOSER.

The Maverick Province

BY STANLEY BURKE

In The Vancouver Sun

OTTAWA—British Columbia has supplanted Quebec as the maverick province.

Judging from the federal-provincial conference, B.C. is now the most nationalistic, suspicious, verbally free-swinging province in Canada.

When I first came down here I was surprised when French-Canadian kidded me as a "fellow nationalist." Gradually I realized that there's a lot of truth in it. They're cut off by language and religion. We're cut off by mountains. Both of us are jealous of the Ontarians and suspicious of Ottawa.

So this week the two rebels sat down at the gathering of the chiefs. The Terrible Tempered Mr. Duplessis sat quietly and said little, but not so Batting Mr. Bennett. He led the fight inside the conference and outside he referred to it as a "fiasco." Then he left without attending the PM's dinner.

Was he justified? Was he right? There was plenty to criticize, all right in both federal and provincial leaders.

NOTHING OFFERED

The federal government is to blame—because they weren't ready with a firm proposal. Right up to the moment the conference opened the cabinet was divided on what it should offer. In the end it didn't offer anything.

Provincial leaders were to blame because they weren't business-like. Premier Campbell of Manitoba rambled on about the last five years' crops. Tommy Douglas of Saskatchewan got into the struggle for "the mastery of men's minds."

By the Almighty Thunderbird, what has that got to do with taxes? By comparison Mr. Bennett presented a short brief concisely broken down into sections and sub-sections. As he read it he would say:

"That is the end of my first point. This is my second point . . ."

There was much to criticize but was it a "fiasco"? Let's admit that part of Mr. Bennett's annoyance stems from the fact that B.C. is in a privileged tax position, that Mr. Bennett is fighting to keep the privilege and that the federal government is trying to reduce it.

British Columbians have been getting $35 each in federal tax rentals. The other provinces get around $31.

HUMBUNG IN SCIENCE

As soon as one starts to investigate humbug in science, it's surprising how many scientists are discovered whose whole lives are devoted to the subject. While it's true that the "meat cutlet" of the vegetarian restaurant, complete with its little paper frill round its artificial "bone" of uncooked macaroni is achieved without the aid of science, a whole army of chemists is busy fabricating artificial cream, or artificial colors simulating egg in cake, or oak smoke in kippers, or artificial egg albumin for baking, everyone of them engaged in harnessing scientific knowledge to the humbug business.

Deep Cove United Church, Hall Anniversary Marked at Banquet

DEEP COVE — St. John's United Church congregation this week celebrated the first anniversary of the opening of the church building and hall, secured after three years of effort. Highlight was a banquet in the church hall, prepared by the Women's Association and served by CGIT girls. Films were shown later by W. T. Straith, QC.

A special anniversary service was held in the church Sunday. Rev. W. Buckingham and J. S. Gardner Jr. reviewed the history of the church, which showed the need for a hall developed 12 years ago when Mrs. R. M. McLennan started a Sunday school in her home on Downey Road.

Later she was given the use of St. Augustine's Hall, but the school soon grew to the point where other accommodation was necessary.

Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs and Brownies needed a meeting place, and the Community Club wanted headquarters for social activities.

In 1952 Mr. Buckingham said at a public meeting that the United Church, that was to begin services in the old school here, might provide a building, and it was decided to support such a project.

A subscription list was opened, and fund-raising concerts were given by Clement May, North Saanich Choral Society, and the Masonic choir.

A fruit stall was opened, sales of work were organized, and the Home Missions board of the church made a grant of $750 and a loan of $750. The church extension committee granted $300.

Former RCAF Chapel

To date $7,000 has been spent, and the debt outstanding is $325.

A site was secured beside the old school, and in 1953 the former RCAF chapel at the Patricia Bay East Camp was bought for $750, and moved to the site for $1,150.

Under the leadership of W. Brown, a program was undertaken in which more than 70 persons contributed 3,500 hours of time in redecorating the building, making a basement, stuccoing walls, and making furniture.

Official opening was Oct. 10, 1954.

Folding doors close off the chapel when the main hall is being used for other than church services, and the site has ample space for a new church and manse, and recreation park.

The demonstration stalls lining the hall will be fewer this year, but the quality of the exhibits will be high, committee members say.

Games that proved such a success last year will be repeated and added to by several additional features. Jim McKevitt will be in charge.

The entire lower floor of the Community Hall will be devoted to the hobby show, which is drawing a big entry from the district and surrounding countryside.

The Country Fair, an annual fall event, is sponsored by the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce, Brentwood Women's Institute, Parent-Teacher Association, Boy Scout and Girl Guide organizations and Brentwood Community Club.

Saltair Favors Water Scheme

Reservoir Proposed to Handle Excess From Ladysmith System

By JOHN MacNAUGHTON
Times Ladysmith Correspondent

LADYSMITH—Construction of a reservoir by Saltair Water Board to impound water escaping from the Ladysmith system for its own use, was suggested by the council and received favorably by a Saltair delegation.

"This is the most encouraging proposal I have heard since we started our search for water, and I feel more confident now than I have ever felt," said J. F. Rumble, Saltair board chairman, following the Wednesday meeting.

Council suggested a rate of pay to be set by the Public Utilities Commission.

Outlining the proposal to the delegation, Mayor Leonard Ryan said the council was concerned about finding some source of water supply for Saltair which would be within the means of the Saltair water district, and some way to make the supply available without prejudicing Ladysmith's supply or burdening Ladysmith with a capital debt which would bring no direct benefit to the city.

He said the council felt that this latest suggestion, if it proves feasible, would nullify these requirements because Saltair would have to build a reservoir for any system it might undertake and this plan would eliminate the need for a dam and a pipeline from the dam to the reservoir.

While the council had no official figures to support its views, members believed that if a reservoir were built near the existing city reservoir, there would be sufficient water from springs, seepage from Stocking Lake dam, and waste water from blow-off pressure-reducing valves on the city pipeline to supply Saltair's immediate needs.

Furthermore, Mayor Ryan said, he did not believe any Ladysmith ratepayer would object to the proposal when it was realized that the water which Saltair would take would be water which has been going to waste and that Ladysmith's supply would not be touched.

According to a preliminary survey of the Ladysmith system, made recently by A. R. Colby, a consulting engineer, the cost of building a reservoir adjoining the existing reservoir would be approximately $21,000.

It is not known yet, though, whether the reservoir will impound sufficient water to supply Saltair's needs.

R. S. Wood, city clerk, said there would be no problem of supply during nine months of the year because the city has much more than it can use in that period and Saltair could be supplied directly from Stocking Lake. It was a question of insuring the supply in the remaining three months of the year.

Mayor Ryan said the city council could make no commitments on the scheme at the present, since it might have to be submitted to ratepayers. Mr. Rumble said investigations would be begun immediately to check the supply.

Vote Set for Nov. 19 On $400,000 Project

CAMPBELL RIVER—Village commission here has set Nov. 19 as date for a referendum on a proposed $400,000 development of the waterfront here.

The reclamation plan, proposed by W. S. Mullett, involves construction of a 1,600-foot seawall and 750-foot breakwater. It also will include a ferry slip and parking space for 500 cars, Mr. Mullett said.

Mr. Mullett also said many applications have been received to build stores on the land to be reclaimed.

Campbell River Development Corp. will finance the project, he said, and is willing to post a $100,000 performance with the commission. Construction work will be done by Utah Construction Company of North America, he said.

Site of the proposed development is between the Kinsmen playground and Richmond Court.

Elaine Hits Steel Barge; Damage Light

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Princess Elaine, CPR passenger and car ferry operating between Vancouver and Nanaimo, collided with a steel barge Thursday night while coming into Vancouver.

No one was injured in the accident but the ferry sustained a large hole in her port side about four feet above the water line.

The barge, towed by the tug La Bonne, was crossing the bow of the ferry a half mile west of the Lions Gate bridge in Vancouver when the accident happened.

CPR officials said the captain of the Princess Elaine knew the tug was crossing his bow and had slowed to half speed to let it pass. Slight damage was caused to the barge but company officials say the Princess Elaine will be laid up for some time.

RCAF Finds Fishermen; Boat Wrecked

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three U.S. fishermen were rescued from an island 300 miles north of Vancouver Thursday, three days after their crippled 74-foot vessel was reported sinking in heavy seas.

The men were spotted on the largest island of the Anderson group by an RCAF Canso piloted by Flt. Lt. Earl Neil.

Flt. Lt. Neil said "the men were walking around on the beach and waving their hands." RCAF air-sea rescue headquarters here said the men were identified as Capt. Rudy Cloudman, Dick Cloudman and Scott Armstrong, 50, of Cordova, Alaska.

The men—all reported in good condition—were taken off the island by the tug Sea Queen III and were moved to calm water where they were put aboard the Canso and flown to Ocean Falls, about 200 miles north of Vancouver.

The fishboat Joseph Bales-trieri II, owned by the Buona Fortuna Fishing Co., of Eureka, Calif., radioed early Tuesday it was sinking after striking a submerged log in Milne Bay Sound.

The vessel was en route to Cordova from Seattle.

TRAFFIC FAULTS UP, MOST CRIME DOWN

OTTAWA (CP)—The volume of traffic work, however, in 1954-55 the Canadian crime appears to be levelling off, says RCMP Commissioner L. H. Nicholson in his annual report made public Thursday. Reviewing the work of his 6,300-man force, the 51-year-old RCMP chief said investigations by the federal force increased four per cent in 1954-55, but that most of the increase was caused by highway traffic violations.

The hopeful conclusion can be drawn, he said, "that at most places where the force has jurisdiction, and despite the rapidly growing population and the less buoyant employment conditions that prevailed in some areas, no serious criminal propensity has made itself felt this year."

The exception was highway traffic accounts invited

DRAMA REVEALED IN RCMP REPORT

Policewoman's Masquerade Wrecked Toronto Drug Ring

OTTAWA (BUP)—The RCMP unfolded a story today which involved an ex-convict who organized a narcotics syndicate, and a tall, dark policewoman who worked undercover to smash it.

The story, listed under "Interesting Cases" in the RCMP's annual report, begins with Gerald Beland, released from Kingston Penitentiary in May, 1953.

Beland traded ideas with other narcotic traffickers in prison, and boasted that he would eventually control the output of illicit narcotics in Toronto. He also said he'd never be arrested again.

Beland arranged to have criminal associates, not necessarily addicts, take all the risk of handling drugs while he controlled the strings and pocketed the profits. The problem police faced was to get evidence to convict him.

That is where Dorothy Lea of the Toronto police force morality squad entered the scene. It was decided she should operate under the assumed name of Pearl Johnson, a drug-addict prostitute from Winnipeg, and attempt to buy narcotics from Beland's peddlers.

Miss Lea made herself known as a "drug addict" to minor operators to gain "references" before she encountered Beland's syndicate.

Then on the evening of Nov. 10, 1953, she went to a hotel where the syndicate boss was known to visit, and through a waiter was introduced to Beland.

Miss Lea related her "background and connections" to Beland. She told him she would like to deal with him.

Beland introduced her to Frank Gardiner, another ex-convict. When they made a deal Miss Lea attempted to give Beland two marked $10 bills. But Beland, eagerly, asked for $1 bills. So she handed Beland $18 $1 bills, and he then told Gardiner to take her to a cache of narcotics.

Gardiner subsequently indicated he did not care for the idea of taking all the chances while Beland was getting all the profits. Before long, Beland and his right-hand man parted. But eventually they joined up again, with Gardiner back in his old position.

As the investigation neared its end Beland was controlling the major output of illicit narcotics on the streets of Toronto but was having disagreements with his peddlers, who as a result, were changing rapidly.

As the investigation drew to a climax other characters entered the scene. There was a man named Harry Kyle, who worked in Beland's drug ring, and later one of Beland's penitentiary associates, Emery Gratton.

Miss Lea spent the next few weeks buying drugs from other operators, because Beland had gradually faded into the background and was controlling the business from long range.

The policewoman made various deals with both Harry Kyle and Emery Gratton, two of Beland's henchmen, Beland and Gardiner, while discussing certain customers with their distributors, learned to their surprise that "Pearl Johnson" had bought from each of them.

Although they did not suspect Miss Lea of being a policewoman, Beland and Gardiner thought she might be an informer. They then made it known that when seen again, she would be examined for hypodermic needle marks before she was sold any more narcotics.

At that stage, the RCMP said, it was considered dangerous for Miss Lea to carry on. Beland and his associates, including a drug addict prostitute-peddler named Marion Kilgallen, were arrested.

Beland was sentenced to five years' imprisonment, and, as an habitual criminal, to an indefinite length of imprisonment. Gardiner was sentenced to five years in jail; Beland's common-law wife, Julie, who also was involved in the racket, received two years imprisonment, as did Kyle. Gratton went to jail for three years. Arnold Gray, another drug peddler, received two years, and six months, while Marion Kilgallen was sentenced to nine months imprisonment.

RCMP PROBED 45 MURDERS

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police investigated 45 murders in the year ended March 31, 1955, one fewer than in the previous year, the force's annual report showed today. Fourteen cases of attempted murder were investigated, up seven from the 1953-54 fiscal year.

Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island had no murders. New Brunswick was the scene of five in contrast to its clear record of the previous year.

New Garage Stalled by Protests; Parking Lot Poachers Under Fire

Land owners in the vicinity of Fairfield and St. Charles were successful Thursday in stalling passage of a by-law which would permit construction of a garage at that point.

Council approved the move two weeks ago in the face of a town planning commission recommendation against the garage. The decision was reached when it was stated that 70 per cent of the nearest property owners approved the garage.

But Thursday the matter was referred to public hearing set for Oct. 27, after receiving seven letters opposing the garage. One of them bore a petition signed by 42 names.

A confusion of maps showing areas of support and non-support, and all differing, were tabled by the council for additional study at the time of the hearing.

The garage is planned by British American Oil Company. Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow told council he objected to an editorial in the morning paper which accused him of "back door tactics" at the UBCM convention last week.

The editor questioned the alderman's right in proposing a resolution to the UBCM which originated at the Victoria Publicity Bureau and not in council, which he represented.

The resolution favoring a province-wide six-day shopping week, was endorsed by the UBCM.

Mr. Edgelow said Thursday the resolution was, in fact, presented by another municipality in the list of resolutions published in advance of the convention.

He said his stand was supported by the mayor and four aldermen—six of the nine-man council in all.

"I don't see anything wrong with the action you took at all," said Mayor Harrison.

No one appeared at a hearing on a by-law which leased Hillside Park to Junior Chamber of Commerce for $1 a year for use by Little League Baseball players. The by-law was passed.

Western Regional Administrator for veterans' affairs, G. C. Derby, advised council there will be no action on a proposed land sale to a church private school near Royal Jubilee Hospital without prior communication with the city.

Council had supported a hospital complaint to the federal government. It was felt the land might be needed for hospital expansion and that a school playground would annoy patients. Mr. Derby said the matter will be discussed with the minister of veterans affairs at Ottawa.

Council permitted a spot rezoning, which it had opposed earlier, in allowing Ainslie Worthington to change two lots on Quadra near Kings from "apartment" to "commercial." Town planning commission said the change would only be reasonable if other lots in the same area were also changed to commercial. So council will rezoned a total of six lots at that corner to commercial, including four on the east side of the street.

A request for rezoning of three lots on Gorge Road from single dwelling to commercial was held over two weeks to permit council to view them. George Garber, 36 Gorge, wants to build an auto court there. In view of petitions against the use, town planning commission suggested the application be refused.

But some aldermen felt that the area is close enough to existing commercial areas to justify the change.

"All Gorge Road is pretty well auto courts, isn't it?" the mayor asked.

Mayorality candidate W. A. Scott appeared to advise council that as previously published he was not retiring from the election race.

Ald. Brent Murdoch won tabling action on the new meat inspection by-law. He wants to see all municipalities pass it or none.

His statement, including strong criticism of Victoria newspapers for reporting to the contrary, was received and filed by council without comment.

Council referred to police commission a name petition complaining about junked cars on the property of L. D. Foxgord, 1144 Queens.

Mayor Harrison told council action against Mr. Foxgord had already been started by the commission.

Aldermen called the site "... an utter disgrace ... unbelievable ... action long overdue."

City Solicitor Arthur Patton will report at the next council meeting on the rights of citizens who have rented parking spaces but find other cars using them.

"We are trying to encourage people to use private parking lots. We should offer them some protection," Ald. Austin Curtis stated.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said the UBCM convention discussed the matter and felt the municipality has power to act under the Trespass Act.

"You can have the auto removed and bill the owner for the cost."

"But you have to go through certain rigamarole," said Mayor Harrison. Mr. Patton will study the matter.

CD Money For Provinces Going Begging

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP)—The provinces have taken up less than one-third of the federal money available for civil defence purposes in the last three years, Col. M. P. Cawdron estimated today.

Col. Cawdron, senior administrative officer at civil defence headquarters in Ottawa, said about $4,800,000 has been made available on a match-payment basis. He estimated that about $1,000,000 has been matched by the provinces.

Federal contributions to civil defence are made on the basis of 50 per cent from the central administration, 25 per cent from the province and 25 from the municipality.

Quebec could have used $603,375 in federal grants, but took none.

Last year's allotments for the other provinces with amount used in brackets: Newfoundland $45,863 ($21,372), Nova Scotia $92,128 ($17,925), New Brunswick $63,777 ($12,433), Prince Edward Island $10,827 (none), Manitoba $117,285 ($25,891), Saskatchewan $91,490 ($42,807), British Columbia $187,271 ($158,355).

Newspapers Facing Newsprint Cost Jump

NEW YORK (UP)—Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, warned the publishers today that they faced an economic threat which possibly could close some newspapers and impoverish scores of others.

The threat lies in a predicted increase in the price of newsprint, Williams said. He urged ANPA members to make a concerted protest to both their Canadian and American suppliers. ANPA includes more than 800 daily newspapers in the United States and Canada.

In a news story published today in the New York World-Telegram & Sun reviewing the newsprint situation, Williams recalled that the price increase was predicted last week by Sir Eric Bowater, chairman of the Bowater Paper Corp. Ltd., one of the world's two or three largest newsprint manufacturers. The Scripps-Howard newspapers' staff writer Murray Davis then quoted Williams as saying that any increase in newsprint price at this time is "wholly unwarranted." Williams gave these reasons:

"1. The present unprecedented prosperity enjoyed by newsprint manufacturers is so big, the outlay so small. Give to the Community Chest.

Non-Tea-Drinking Princess Rests 14 Hours at Niagara

PRINCESS ROYAL INSPECTS Canadian Corps of Signals at Queen's Park, Toronto. She is honorary colonel-in-chief of the corps.

Full Details Given Of Royal Visit Here

A busy round of activities has begun at 12.25 p.m., when she will be arranged for Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal, 38-year-old aunt of Queen Elizabeth, has begun a 14-hour holiday visit to Niagara Falls.

Princess Mary arrived Thursday night in Canada's picture paradise aboard a special railway car from Toronto.

No official duties await the princess here. Her visit is strictly for pleasure.

Thursday she caught her second (wind and obviously enjoyed every minute of the gruelling schedule of events.

For a visit to the Canadian Girl Guide headquarters she wore a diamond brooch centred by a beaver which the Canadian Girl Guides had sent her as a wedding present in 1928.

Greeted by an honor guard of guides, she visited for half an hour with the executives of provincial and national councils and presented them with a picture of herself in uniform. The 58-year-old aunt of Queen Elizabeth is president of the Commonwealth Girl Guides Association.

At a Wednesday afternoon function, a reception given by Lieutenant-Governor Louis O. Bennett at Queen's Park, she requested a brief rest from the receiving line.

After she had welcomed nearly 600 of the 800 invited guests, the Princess Royal said she was warm and asked that windows be opened. She sat down to rest for three minutes, then rose refreshed to receive the last 200 guests.

She had had only a cup of coffee and two sandwiches to fortify her for the 14-hour party.

The Princess Royal does not drink tea.

Cheddar is the only cheese graded in Canada and inspections are being made continually wherever cheddar cheese is sold. In grading cheese, it is scored on the following points: flavor, texture, closeness, color and finish with flavor considered most important.

Lopat, Joost Lopped

Yanks, Red Sox Release Veterans

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Ed Lopat and Eddie Joost had their press clippings—and that's just about all—left of their big league careers today.

The veteran pitcher and shortstop, both of whom overcame physical shortcomings to become stars, were released Thursday by the Baltimore Orioles and the Boston Red Sox.

The Orioles announced that they were asking waivers on the 37-year-old Lopat in order to give him his unconditional release. The Red Sox, meanwhile, announced they had given the 39-year-old Joost his outright release. It'll be a surprise if either catches on with another big league club.

It wasn't long ago, however, that both were stars of the first rank. Lopat, a medium-sized southpaw never possessed a "big league fast ball" nor a fast curve, but he got by on a combination of guile and a variety of soft, low-breaking curves.

Acquired from the Chicago White Sox in 1948 on Joe DiMaggio's recommendation, Lopat appeared in five World Series for the New York Yankees and compiled a classic record of 4-1. With Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds he formed the "big three" of five straight world championship teams from 1949 through 1953.

Lopat had successive records of 15-10, 14-8, 21-9, 10-5 and 16-4 for those teams. He was especially effective against the Cleveland Indians, compiling a 40-13 lifetime mark against them. He won 166 big league games and lost 112.

Joost, a star infielder despite the handicap of wearing glasses, was a weak hitter when he broke in with the Cincinnati Redlegs in 1936. After nine seasons in the National League he dropped back into the minors in 1946 but then returned to the big time with the Philadelphia Athletics.

With a revised stance that reduced his "strike zone" to what amounted to his "power zone," Joost became a dangerous long-ball hitter in the American League for seven years. He then managed the Athletics before they were transferred to Kansas City.

The Red Sox picked him up as a free agent last spring but he hit only .193 in 56 games for them this year.

Heavy Action Billed In City Soccer Loops

Heavy soccer activity, from the Victoria and District League's first division down to the Little Soccer League, will again monopolize most of the city's parks and playgrounds this weekend.

In the V & D League first division, undefeated JBAA will tangle with Victoria West at Athletic Park, Saturday, at 2:30, seeking its third straight win. Sunday, Heaneys and winless Esquimalt meet at Heywood Avenue Park at 2:30.

In second division action, Brodie's Bakery and Tillamook meet Saturday at Beacon Hill Park. Sunday, Butlers meet Dutch Wanderers at Central Park and QOR tangle with Duncan at Duncan. Games start at 2:30.

Both the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football League and the Little Soccer League will resume action this weekend after being rained out last week. Lower Island loop has scheduled six games. Three games will be played Saturday, in divisions three, four and five, and three on Sunday, in divisions one and two.

Little Soccer League has scheduled 11 games in two divisions Saturday. Schedule follows:

NINE YEARS AND UNDER
Reynolds Wolves vs. Oak Bay Rangers
Hampson Bears vs. Central Tigers
Oak Bay Rams vs. Heywood Lions
Oak Bay Eagles vs. Lansdowne Cougars

10-12 YEARS
Lansdowne Beavers vs. Bullen Cubs
Oak Bay Cougars vs. Reynolds Rangers
Central Flyers vs. Hampton Falcons
Heywood Raiders vs. Central Seals
Lansdowne Thrillers vs. Oak Bay Indians
Bullen Pirates vs. Oak Bay Gladiators
Hampton United vs. Lansdowne Cougars

First team mentioned is home team.

June Retains Grapple Crown
June Byers disposed of challenger Bonnie Watson in two straight falls at Victoria Ballroom Thursday night to keep her title in the special feature billed as the women's world's wrestling championship.

A packed house watched the show. In the double main event of the weekly professional wrestling card, Don Kindred lost to George Scott on a disqualification and Ken Kenneth withdrew from his bout with Angus Scott when he injured his shoulder and could not continue.

Clippers, always a powerhouse in the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League, appear to have the strongest team of their short VIAHL history at present.

With both the semi-finals and finals of the Coy Cup intermediate championship scheduled to be played on the coast this year, the Clippers may erase the disappointment suffered by Nanaimo sports fans during the unsuccessful Mann Cup quest.

Four Down, Seattle Coming Up

Captain Colin Kilburn, left, and coach Eddie Olson of the Victoria Cougars check the scoreboard before hitting the ice tonight for a WHL encounter with Seattle Americans. Cougars, under rookie coach Olson, and with seven rookies in the line-up, have skated off to a quick lead in the western division of the league, winning their first four games within a space of five days. Old pro Kilburn will lead the club in its quest for five straight without a defeat tonight when action starts at 8:30 at Memorial Arena. Kilburn, at a goal a game pace with four goals, is leading the club in scoring.

Rocket, Pocket Rocket Give Habs Twin Punch

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League has a player who has not yet celebrated his fifth birthday.

He is Henri Richard, a young brother of Maurice Rocket Richard. Although he was born 19 years ago, Henri will not celebrate his fifth birthday until Feb. 29, 1956. The reason, of course, is that February has 29 days only in leap year—every four years.

Henri became a full-fledged Montreal Canadien Wednesday when he signed a two-year contract to play for the Habitués. He still had one year of junior hockey left but Frank Selke, general manager of Canadiens, liked the way the younger Richard handled himself.

Victoria High School will hold its annual swim gala tonight between 7 and 9 at Crystal Garden pool.

Keen competition is expected in both the boys' and girls' divisions, with a team yet to be chosen for the inter-high swim gala next Thursday at Crystal pool.

Last year, Victoria High was edged out by Oak Bay High School in the race for possession of the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy and first place in the annual event.

Esks' Kwong Nears New Rushing Mark

REGINA (CP)—Normie Kwong needs another 71 yards for a Western Interprovincial Football Union rushing record. And he has three games left in which to get them.

The 25-year-old Edmonton Eskimo fullback, who last season failed to pace among the league's top five ground-gainers, has amassed 973 yards in 13 scheduled games so far. This is only 70 yards short of the record 1,043 set by Calgary's Howard Waugh in 1954.

Figures released today by league statistician Bill Hawrylak also show that Kwong's total of 186 times carrying the ball is only 20 less than the record number set by Edmonton's Mike King in the 1951 season.

Another Canadian—Winnipeg Blue Bombers' Gerry James—follows Kwong with 822 yards in 133 carries, while teammate Leo Lewis, an import, is third with 775.

Edmonton's Johnny Bright has a total gain of 634 yards, and Al Polard of British Columbia Lions has 537. Next in line are Bobby Marlow of Saskatchewan Roughriders with 542, and Eskimo Earl Lindley with 487.

Coach Phil Watson had his Rangers out for a practice at Montreal Forum today. He plans to reshuffle the third line to free Danny Lewicki for power-play duty. Rookie Guy Gendron will take over Lewicki's left-wing spot with centre Don Raleigh and Andy Hebertson.

Although Rangers are undefeated this season, they have won only once in five years at Montreal.

GRID ROUND-UP

Sailors All at Sea; Line-Up May Suffer

The exigencies of the service may well hamper Navy's bid for a first-place tie in the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League standings.

Now in second place, four points behind league-leading Oak Bay Drakes, Navy meets Mayo Vampires Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at Macdonald Park. The game will be the first of the last two remaining for Navy.

The Tars meet Drakes next Saturday, and must win both contests to gain a first-place tie.

Navy, however, has seven key men presently out on fleet exercises, and with the fleet returning to Esquimalt at 2 Saturday, an attempt will be made to get the men to Macdonald Park in time for the game.

The regulars, Tom Humphreys, Mel Wilson, Al Reeves, Paul Cook, Morely McAllister, Roy Negrich and first-string quarterback Archie Langston, all have missed two weeks' practices, however, and may not have time to work the shipboard kinks out of their systems in time to defeat Vampires.

Injuries have also struck down the sailors. Definitely out of action will be Jim Clarke, Jack Bowers and George Kelly. Coach Frank Hindle plans to use leading ground gainer Bill Schick only sparingly, as well as Ernie Lee, Gerry Porter and Ron Young, all forced to the bench with some injury or other.

Game time has been delayed one half-hour from the usual starting time of 2.

In junior league action Sunday, the two top service teams will pit individual undefeated streaks at HMCS Naden at 2. Defending champion HMCS Venture will meet Royal Roads for the right to travel to Vancouver, Oct. 29, for the B.C. championship.

Both squads have had little trouble disposing of the other two teams in the loop, Oak Bay Drakes and Vampires, and Sunday's clash should be the top game of the season. Drakes and Vampires will also meet Sunday at 2 at Macdonald Park, in a battle for third place.

Carr, the ageless playing coach, will start his umpteenth season at a forward spot and he can pick from a big parcel of scoring-wise forwards.

Dugan, scoring champ two years ago, is back after a one-year fling with Belleville and DeFelle is back from Clinton. Other forwards are small but elusive Bert "Shadow" Yesowick, Gordieau, Joe Zuback, Bud Dumont, Bill Sutherland and Ashbee.

Ashbee was offered a try-out with Vancouver Canucks this year but declined in favor of staying in Nanaimo where he is operating a new, gas station.

The lone newcomer to the club is Ken Ludwig, a right winger who was with Prince George last year and played semi-pro hockey in Vancouver the previous two years.

Cats Meet Seattle; 'Old Folks' Return

Reay Back To Challenge Cougar Streak

By BILL WALKER

Although the Western Hockey League is only a week old in its present infancy, it should be like old folks' night at the arena this evening.

What with a couple of former Cougar coaches leading the opposition, Eddie Olson and his unbeaten cats could find themselves in the middle of a real whoop-de-do.

Even if he could be contacted, there is no need to ask Ed Dorohoy what he thinks of the upcoming party.

Ed has already spoken too much this year and leads the league in penalties with two misconducts, assessed in the first two games yet.

ONE OF TWO

Ed is one of the former Cougar mentors now with the Seattle Americans who make their first visit here.

Billy Reay is the other and he returns in a triple threat capacity—vice-president, general manager and coach.

It is not known from which executive capacity the words stemmed—but, following the Cougars' 4-2 triumph over the Americans at Seattle last Saturday, Reay had some choice thoughts about the game.

He was of a rosy hue, it is said, when the post-game needle was deftly applied by a Cougar executive of comparable official capacity.

The Cougars, Reay is reported as saying later, played it rough, while the refereeing did not meet with his approval.

Undoubtedly the officiating didn't meet with Dorohoy's approval either.

But since then the Americans have had reason to sing a different tune.

They hopped the Canucks, 8-3, Wednesday.

Dorohoy helped the assault with two assists; yet another ex-Cougar, Bart Bradley got a goal; still another former Cat, Sam Lavitt, got two assists; and Alex Kuzma, Dorohoy's line-mate of last year tossed in an assist.

They'll all be here en masse tonight with the Pistol (that's Dorohoy) leading the firing. With four victories in hand, and no losers in the deck, Cougars figure they have the answer.

TOP SCORER

Colin Kilburn leads all western-division goal-getters with four goals for four games and an assist to go with each counter. Doug Macauley has a similar eight points and a divisional high of five assists, the same as Doug Anderson.

Combined this threesome has totalled 20 points or a five-a-game average.

That's one proposed answer to Cougar old folks' from Seattle and their spokesmen.

The unblemished Cougar record is the other, with Nelson Bullock, the clubs new defenceman, expected to help preserve what his new mates have accomplished.

The firing starts at 8:30.

OTTAWA SHAKE-UP CONTINUES

Roberts Joins Reeling Riders

By AL FINKELSTEIN

British United Press Staff Correspondent
OTTAWA (BUP)—Gene "Choo-Choo" Roberts, former Big Four scoring leader and Ottawa Rough Rider star for three seasons, was expected to sign a contract today as assistant to coach Chan Caldwell.

Roberts, 31, will replace Tom McHugh of Palmyra, N.J., who resigned Thursday for health reasons.

Three or four new linemen also are expected here today or tomorrow to bolster the Roughies' sagging playoff chances against the Hamilton Tiger-Cats at Hamilton Saturday.

Thursday the Rough Riders executive released quarterback Don Bailey, 22, of Pittsburgh; 275-pound tackle Don King, 26, of Turtle Creek, Pa.; veteran pro end Hugh (Bones) Taylor, 31, of West Hyattsville, Md., and end John Welton, 25, of Ottawa. Another player, star import guard Ted Daffer, told club officials he was fed up with the low morale of the players and would head for his Knoxville, Tenn. home this week.

The Riders are in last place in the Big Four standings and have three games remaining after Saturday's contest in Hamilton; two against Toronto and one with Hamilton. Montreal leads the pack with six wins and two losses for 12 points; Hamilton is second with five wins and three defeats for 10 points; Toronto is in the third and final playoff spot with three wins and five losses for six points, and Ottawa has won two out of six games for four points.

The Roberts contract follows the biggest shakedown of Ottawa football in 32 years. The fireworks started two weeks ago with the release of assistant coach John Idzik, 27, from Tennessee, and climaxed Monday when 20 players were fined $200 each for indifference play against the Montreal Alouettes on the Thanksgiving Day week-end. Montreal beat Ottawa 35-7 here and 43-6 in Montreal. Hamilton drubbed the Roughies 40-0 on a previous Saturday.

Roberts was inactive this year.

Flyers Tie V's; Dick Blows Top

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Spokane Flyers of the Western International Hockey League held the Penticton V's of the Okanagan senior loop to a 4-4 tie in a penalty-spotted exhibition game here Thursday night.

About 1,400 fans attended the rough, wide-open match. Dick Warwick, hot-tempered idol of the "check 'em or hit 'em" school, was given a match misconduct at 19:25 of the second when he vaulted out of the penalty box to pursue Tom Hodges of the Flyers.

Roberts was inactive this year.

Clipper Gun-Sights on Coy Cup

By DENNY BOYD

Nanaimo didn't get the Mann Cup this lacrosse season but now that hockey is in vogue, Frank Crane, Red Carr and the Nanaimo Clippers have contracted the Coy Cup litch.

Clippers, always a powerhouse in the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League, appear to have the strongest team of their short VIAHL history at present.

With both the semi-finals and finals of the Coy Cup intermediate championship scheduled to be played on the coast this year, the Clippers may erase the disappointment suffered by Nanaimo sports fans during the unsuccessful Mann Cup quest.

The return of ex-coach and former league-scoring champion Arnie Dugan, the decision of Don Ashbee to forsake professional hockey and the return to the city of Angie DeFelle make Clippers a loaded proposition.

"This club will be the best," says manager Frank Crane with no hesitation. "We had only two days ice time before we met Penticton V's and they had to hustle to beat us."

On that occasion, Clippers and the world champion V's were tied 1-1 after one period, 2-2 after two and V's scrambled through the last period to take a 3-3 decision in the exhibition game.

Last year, Clippers led all the way to record their second straight league championship, paced by smoothy Mel Gordreau, who won the scoring championship on points but lost it on a percentage basis, Clippers playing an unbalanced schedule. A late starting but, strong-finishing C & C Taxi club beat Clippers in the play-off finals.

Clippers are welcoming back doughty little Spanky Hodgson, who suffered a badly broken cheekbone in an early-season practice last year and missed most of the season. Hodgson performed capably against the V's.

Bill Haslam and Red Wilgress, a pair of husky young defencemen, have left the club to try out with Lethbridge-Native Sons but Clippers still have an abundance of defensive strength.

Colorful Bruno Furlan will be back, last year's shoulder separation having mended. Other defence returnees are Don Smith, George Milford, Earl Robinson and Lawrence Plensky.

Carr, the ageless playing coach, will start his umpteenth season at a forward spot and he can pick from a big parcel of scoring-wise forwards.

Dugan, scoring champ two years ago, is back after a one-year fling with Belleville and DeFelle is back from Clinton. Other forwards are small but elusive Bert "Shadow" Yesowick, Gordieau, Joe Zuback, Bud Dumont, Bill Sutherland and Ashbee.

Dugan, scoring champ two years ago, is back after a one-year fling with Belleville and DeFelle is back from Clinton. Other forwards are small but elusive Bert "Shadow" Yesowick, Gordieau, Joe Zuback, Bud Dumont, Bill Sutherland and Ashbee.

Ashbee was offered a try-out with Vancouver Canucks this year but declined in favor of staying in Nanaimo where he is operating a new, gas station.

The lone newcomer to the club is Ken Ludwig, a right winger who was with Prince George last year and played semi-pro hockey in Vancouver the previous two years.

OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

One of these days, Gus Neering may get around to writing his memoirs. They should make highly edible reading for anyone interested in the outdoor world.

Recently, Gus hung up his badge after 25 years service as a Michigan game warden. During that time, he came to love the outdoors, he saw many things he will never forget and a great many things he would rather forget.

He helped conscientious hunters and fishermen, he apprehended and helped convict violators of game laws. In between times he became involved with some of the zaniest crackpots who ever were issued a fishing or game licence.

For instance, there was Gus' very first day on the job, nervous, wet behind the ears and painfully anxious to be a success.

Gus came across a fisherman who had in his possession, 2,200 pounds of off-season Wall-Eyed Pike. When Neering started to inform the fisherman of the error of his ways, the greedy angler grabbed a rifle off the ground and snapped a shot at Neering. Gus ducked in time, disarmed and subdued the would-be murderer and hauled him into court.

However, the game laws weren't too strong in those days and the trigger-happy fisher was let off on a ridiculously trivial charge of disturbing the peace.

Another time, during bird season, Gus approached a car to do a routine check. Suddenly his Llewellyn Setter froze to a point at the side of the car.

His suspicions aroused, Gus checked the car thoroughly but could find nothing amiss. Still the dog held the point, near the rear wheels. On a hunch, Neering removed the hub cap from one of the wheels and found stuffed inside, 10 illegal quail.

CASTING ABOUT—Art Hancock, the grizzled and wise Cowichan River guide, predicts another fine fishing year in his favorite of all fishing grounds. Thursday morning, Art was fishing for his own fry-pan and picked up six fat trout, the biggest three pounds, on number 10 orange and yellow bucktails. Art reports the dry fly working well but not too much success at present with the bottom-fly. He says good catches have been made with small Stewart spoons in the big pool below the hotel. The odd salmon is showing in the river, which is low but fishable. . . . Dave Grey and Charlie Guiguet, two of our best bucktail experts on the salt water front, had great sport Sunday and Monday. Fishing between Senanus Island and Bamerton, they picked up seven coho Sunday and five more Monday, all the fish going from 10 to 12 pounds. They used the green and white and blue and white flies. Dave reports it is almost impossible to keep the grise off a blue and white fly in the inlet at present. . . .

A visitor in town last week, Alan MacLean of Painter's Lodge, Campbell River, gave us an indication of the tremendous Tyee year enjoyed in that part of the country. The Tyee Club registered 298 salmon, caught under the stringent club regulations, and representing 14,000 pounds of fish. Alan said that probably six times that number of fish was caught but not registered. . . . Still plenty of coho in Cowichan Bay where the fish are not too big but large in numbers. The weather has been good and the fish are taking flies readily. Most boats are coming back with four, five or six fish, averaging around eight-nine pounds. Incidentally, this week saw visitors from California, Texas and China test the bay's waters.

Hot Brick Cools Off, Oaks Still on Move

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Brick Laws cooled off Thursday night and said he was moving his Oakland baseball team to Vancouver, although city councilmen there had refused a vote on Sunday games.

When he first learned that councilmen had refused to poll the electorate on whether to repeal an ordinance against Sunday baseball Laws had threatened to stop the switch.

But later, he said, "The Oaks are going to Vancouver as planned."

He originally announced the transfer after his Oaks had done miserably at the gate last season.

His first declaration on learning the council's stand was: "I haven't yet formally signed a contract or lease papers to bring the Oaks to Vancouver and right now I'm of a mind not to. There are plenty of cities who want us, cities whose official families seem more inclined to help us."

Laws, who describes himself as a "very stubborn man when crossed," said he had "no argument."

Rare Breed To Be Shown

One of the newest breeds of field dogs, the Weimaraner, will be on display at the Crystal Garden Oct. 21 and 22 in the Victoria City Kennel Club's annual Fall Show and Obedience Trials. Of German origin, the breed history of the Weimaraner goes back only to the beginning of the 19th century. Originally bred as a big-game dog, it later was trained as a bird dog, both on land and water. Among the few that are in North America are brothers Danno, Von Bromactol and Mon Von Bromactol, with owner Mrs. E. Parratt. (Times Photo.)

Jackie Begs to Differ; Denies Kellert's 'Out'

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Kellert, sold to Chicago Cubs Monday, told sports editor John Cronley of The Daily Oklahoman that he helped cloak the play by standing in tight at the plate, and making Berra reach across for the tag.

Kellert, Brooklyn's second string first baseman who was at bat when Robinson stole home, said in Oklahoma City Wednesday that Yankee catcher Yogi Berra really tagged Jackie before his slide reached the plate. Umpire Bill Summers called Robinson safe.

"The decision was right," said Robinson. "I was safe at home plate and pictures prove it."

Canucks Suspend Pete Conacher

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Owner Coley Hall of the Vancouver Canucks has suspended left-winger Pete Conacher for failing to report to the Western Hockey League club.

The action followed Conacher's refusal to report to the Canucks after being assigned here by the New York Rangers of the NHL. Conacher's mother was reported to have said in Toronto that personal business made it impossible for her son to move to the West Coast.

'King' Abdicates Argos; Lions Patch Wounded

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Ol' King Krol has given up his comeback attempt in Canadian professional football.

Joe Krol said he has quit the game again because he figures he can't get into shape in time to help Toronto Argonauts in the Big Four Football Union.

Joe is 35. He came out of a year's retirement two weeks ago. The former quarterback, one of the greatest Canadian players, kicked for Argos after three days practice. He played two games but sat out Monday's engagement against Hamilton.

Krol announced his retirement Thursday. He obviously wasn't happy about his performance with Argos. He averaged slightly less than 30 yards a kick, about half the distance of kicks he got away in his prime.

Krol retired midway through the 1953 season with a knee injury. His brilliant playing carried him to Grey Cup championships with Hamilton Wildcats in 1943 and with Argos in 1945, '46, '47, '50 and '52.

RIDERS MEET AIS

In other football action Saturday, Ottawa Rough Riders, who lost 43-6 to Als Monday, play Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Hamilton.

In the Western Interprovincial Football Union, Edmonton Eskimos play Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina and Calgary Stampede move to Vancouver to play British Columbia Lions.

University of Toronto Blues will be out after their third straight win in their intercollegiate game against McGill Redmen at Toronto while Queen's Golden Gaels travel to London to play the University of Western Ontario Mustangs. Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen take on Sarnia Imperials in Sarnia in an Ontario Rugby Football Union game.

Als will be at full strength for the game with Argos, with the possible exception of Joey Pal, still limping from a sprained ankle.

The dissension-ridden Ottawa Rough Riders, smarting under $200 fines against 20 players, are the big question-marks this weekend. If they're mad enough they might just overcome the powerful Tiacs and keep alive their slim playoff hopes.

FILCHOCK LIKES IDEA

Coach Pop Ivy of Edmonton plans to bench most of his first-string players to rest them for the western finals. Roughrider coach Frank Filchock says that's all right with him.

"I hope Ivy isn't kidding. We need the points to sew up second place. It should make it that much easier for us."

Roughriders may be without halfback Ken Carpenter, leading scorer in the WIFU, who came down with the flu this week.

B. C. Lions are patching up all walking wounded in an attempt to keep alive their mathematical chances of a playoff spot. They're sitting in fourth place with eight points and have only three games left.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who sit it out this weekend, are in third place with 12 points.

WHEAT EXPORTS GAIN 5,700,000 BUSHEL

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian wheat stocks for the week ended Oct. 5 totalled 371,000,000 bushels, a decline of 3,600,000 from the previous week but still 41,700,000 heavier than the volume at the same date last year.

The board of grain commissioners reports that returns for the week showed slight gains in farm deliveries of wheat, 3,900,000 bushels compared with 3,000,000 a week earlier, and in domestic shipments, 2,100,000 bushels against 2,000,000. Major change, however, was in overseas wheat exports, which advanced sharply to 5,700,000 bushels—the best seven-day volume since the opening of the 1955-56 crop season.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrials Move Down

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market remained dull in closing transactions on the Toronto exchange today. Industrials moved down a moderate but fairly wide dip into lower territory.

Base metals and western oils were mildly easier in narrow range dealings. There was little trend in golds.

Most industrial groups declined with an average of almost four losses to every advance. Price changes were mostly limited to a point, but extended to more than three points at the outside.

Royal Bank led better issues with a $2 gain to 54.

Most senior base metals lost fractions and other declines ranged to about 25 cents. McIntyre and Kerr-Addison firms' stocks among losers.

Consolidated Denison led the few better uranium, up 35 to $10.25. Petrol firmed 15 to $1.96 in western oils.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed today in quiet trading with strength lodged in widely scattered individual issues.

Prices gained or lost around 2 points at the outside. Du Pont was an exception, up between 7 and 8 points at the top.

The market drifted lower much of the time, but its trend was punctuated by strength among individual issues in steels, motors, railroads, chemicals and aircrafts.

Trade reports indicated more than 200,000 bushels of flax sold for export in recent days.

Prices in other grains showed a lower trend, reflecting a decline in U.S. prices.

All classes of wheat prices increased one-quarter cent.

BACK AGAIN—Popular Alan Ladd returns to the Capitol Theatre screen this week in "The McConnell Story," with June Allyson.

Merger Brings New Name For Cadets

Seventy-five Victoria army cadets are officially sporting a new title following recent amalgamation of 119 Medium Anti-Aircraft Battery, RCA, with 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, RCA.

The name, 4 LAA Battery RCA Cadet Corps, replaces 119 Battery RCA Cadet Corps in every respect, with the exception of two treasured mementoes. The old name will remain with the corps inscribed on a solid silver badge worn by the best rifle shot of the month, and on a silver-headed ebony swagger stick carried by the most progressive-cadet of the month.

MUSICIANS WANTED

Cadets expect to form a bugle section in their brass band, which still has vacancies for cadet musicians. Queen's Bugles of Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, have volunteered instruction in this respect, and James Napper will take drum instruction duties.

Ward's Music Ltd. handles training in other instruments of the brass band and puts up an award for bandmen.

Recruits can be accepted this fall for 4 LAA Battery Cadet Corps, which leaves city weigh scales, Fisgard street, at 7:20 p.m. for training at Work Point Barracks.

No Funds Available For Historic Cairn

NANAIMO—Lack of funds is delaying construction by Nanaimo branch of the B.C. Historical Society of a cairn to mark the landing site of the Princess Royal pioneers in 1854.

A ceremony was held at the spot a year ago to mark the 100th anniversary of the event and the foundation for a cairn and time capsule was laid.

"What is really needed is voluntary labor or money to complete the cairn," said society president E. Barraclough.

Ex-Aircraft Carrier Loads at Ogden Point

An aircraft carrier is berthed at Ogden Point today, but only the most knowing eye could identify her as such.

She's the former HMS Queen, escort carrier which patrolled the Atlantic life lines during the Second World War, her 20 aircraft at the ready.

Now she's known as TSS Roebiah, in the South Africa-Pacific Northwest trade for Netherlands Lines, Amsterdam. Roebiah is lifting 1,150,000 feet of lumber for Africa, with King Bros. Ltd. as Victoria agent.

CARGO SHIP

The big ex-carrier—she displaces 11,420 tons light, over 18,000 fully loaded, is 496 feet overall—began life in the yards of the Seattle-Tacoma ship-building corporation, designed as a 16-knot C-2 cargo ship for the U.S. navy.

She was launched in August, 1943, as the St. Andrews, but with 21 sister ships, was transferred to the United Kingdom under lend-lease.

For the U.K. her freighter-type superstructure was stripped off, and she was equipped with a navigating island and 450-foot wooden-planked flight deck. The deck planking was the only wood in the ship; internally, even bunks, lockers, chairs and tables were of steel.

SISTERS SUNK

After two years of convoy and Atlantic patrol duty, during which two of her sisters, Nabob and Thane, were sunk, she again underwent conversion. This time she was temporarily equipped as a troop carrier.

After the war most of the ex-carriers were returned to the

New Hearing Set On Zoning Plan

A further public hearing on the city planning department to be proposed new Victoria zoning by-law was set for Oct. 27 by council Thursday as city hall observers began to wonder if the by-law will get final passage this year.

It has been tabled, returned to committee, attacked by petitions, amended 18 times in the last council session alone and opposed by builders' and architects' associations.

First drafted in 1951, the by-law has been dealt with by two mayors, five councils, all department heads and five organizations concerned with civic growth.

Meanwhile, the city is struggling on under the terms of a 1929 zoning by-law.

According to one alderman, Robert Macmillan, no one in council knows what it is about or has taken time to study the 110-page by-law.

Mayor Claude Harrison, also staunchly opposed to passing the by-law too hurriedly, said recently: "You mean to substitute an obsolete by-law with an incomplete by-law."

The hearing, set for the 27th, will place the Victoria Town Planning Commission, a volunteer body which framed the new regulations, under fire again. The commission expected it was finished with public complaint when the first hearing was held Sept. 8.

MORE HEARINGS

But city solicitor Arthur Patton pointed out Thursday that as long as amendments appear after the by-law has had first passing and hearing, other hearings will have to be held on the amendments.

Additional letters supporting delay were read to council. Victoria Contractors' Association wrote to ask a three-month delay for further study by the public. The Vancouver Island Chapter of the Architectural Institute objected that improved parking would not be achieved by the by-law. It is calling for a

Emil May Quit, But May Not ...

LONDON (AP)—Triple Olympic champion Emil Zatopek hinted on Thursday that he will quit international track and field competition after the 1956 Olympics—but he left the door wide open for a change of heart.

The 34-year-old Czech relaxed at his London hotel after his defeat Wednesday night over 10,000 metres and said: "As I feel at the moment it is quite likely that I shall not run again for my country after the 1956 Olympics."

Then the fabulous athlete, who holds world records from six miles to 30,000 metres, added: "Even if I did not run for my country I should still continue running for enjoyment."

He said that everything depended on the standard of his running and how he felt about it.

Wife-Wooing in U.S. Costly to Canadian

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UP)—A young Canadian today began an 18-month federal prison term for illegally entering the United States in a futile attempt to win back his estranged bride.

Frederic Conrad Taylor of Hamilton, Ont., exposed by his in-laws, was sentenced yesterday for the latest in a long series of illegal entries.

Authorities said evidence showed Taylor had been entering the country illegally.

The term belfry in olden times was applied to towers from which an alarm bell was rung.

Vancouver Gang Wars Interrupt Drug Traffic RCMP Reports

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP says gangland wars for control of the Vancouver drug market have interrupted some narcotics traffic, but "ample quantities" coming from the United States appear to have reached every major Canadian centre.

But Commissioner L. H. Nicholson added in his annual report made public Thursday that so far there are no indications of a narcotics problem among Canada's youth.

During the 1954-55 fiscal year, he said, RCMP narcotics arrests dropped to 391 from 507 in the previous year and convictions declined to 357 from 391.

But the declines did not indicate a reduction in the narcotics trade, though gangland wars did cause an irregularity in supplies.

Convictions in British Columbia had dropped by 25 per cent and this could be attributed in part to periodic flare-ups between narcotic syndicates attempting to gain control of the Vancouver drug market, the commissioner said. It also could be attributed to greater caution by drug peddlers and addicts.

Heroin, he said, continues to be the principal drug and Vancouver the heart of the illicit drug trade. But there appeared to be ample supplies available at all major Canadian centres, with stocks coming in from eastern United States. Street prices ranged from $3 to $5 for a capsule containing only one-quarter grain of heroin.

Kramer Puzzled Over Status Of Aussies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tennis promoter Jack Kramer said Thursday he is "as much in the dark as anyone else" over the prospects of Australia's Davis Cup stars, Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, joining his coming professional tour with the United States champion, Tony Trabert.

Kramer was advised that Hoad had intimated in Australia that he might continue as an amateur.

"That's a switch," said Kramer. "I thought that if either decided to stay amateur, it would be Rosewall."

"I did feel strongly when they left America that both would turn pro and play for me, although neither has, of course, signed a contract."

Hospitals Still Fight 'Golden Staph' Plague

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver death due to infections picked up in hospitals—but no more than other hospitals of this type," he said.

"We set up a committee two years ago to study the whole problem, and the committee is making a detailed study. At no time, I must say, has the rate of incidence of the infection been what you would call alarming."

GOLDEN STAPH
He said the "true facts and figures" on hospital infection are being kept in the background.

He said poor housekeeping and infection control technique in hospitals, have been responsible for part of a large increase in hospital infections, many of which have caused death.

Health Minister Martin said it is difficult to determine how serious the infection is because of lack of full reports.

Dr. Lawrence E. Ranta, acting chief administrator at General hospital, agreed that hospital infections are a source of concern to doctors and administrators.

"We at Vancouver General hospital have had our share of infections—and even rare cases of

Socreds Table Motion Asking Speller to Quit

Members of the Saanich Social Credit Association Thursday voted to table a motion calling for the resignation of Lionel Speller, the association's fifth vice-president.

The motion, made by H. N. Kerr and supported by a few members, asked for Mr. Speller's resignation because he had publicly denounced the application for party membership of Saanich Reeve Joseph Casey.

Mr. Speller at the time charged Reeve Casey with "back-door politics."

Mr. Speller explained to the meeting that his opinions with regard to Reeve Casey joining the Social Credit party were his own.

TAMARA TOUMANOVA SHEDS CARELESS HUSBAND

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Russian-born ballerina Tamara Tumanova won a divorce from screen writer Casey Robinson by throwing the little black book at him. "I found a little black book in his laundry," Tamara testified Thursday. "It contained the names and addresses of ladies who were not mutual friends of ours." The court ended the 11-year marriage on grounds of cruelty.

'Cat' Salesman Botts Misses Parley, But Sends Boss

Alexander Botts, the roistering super-salesman who chugs through the fiction pages of the Saturday Evening Post selling "Earthworm" tractors, could not find time to attend the Pacific Logging Congress 46th annual convention here, but his boss arrived.

Harmon S. Eberhard, president of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. of Peoria, Ill., and his vice-president, Gail E. Spain, are delegates.

The mythical Botts, creation of author William Hazlett Upson, has never said that his Earthworms were based upon the "Cat," but it is generally understood. Also, he worked for the company from 1919 to 1924, and "he talks a lot to us," said Mr. Eberhard.

Flagship of the "Cat" fleet is its huge D9, a 35-ton machine with 15-foot bulldozer blade that is powered by a 286-horsepower diesel engine. The company also makes wheeled vehicles—85 types of machinery in all—but it is best known for the bright yellow machines, ranging down to small four-cylinder models, that expertly drawbar pull, while clanking along on their metal tracks.

Boss of six U.S. plants, three foreign subsidiaries, and 34,000 employees, Mr. Eberhard said Caterpillar cannot build enough machines to satisfy the demand, although present plants will not reach full production until 1956.

He started work 40 years ago for the Holt Manufacturing Company that made, among other products, a tractor. Since it was designed with continuous metal treads it was called a "Caterpillar," and eventually it took over the whole company.

The term, "Cat," incidentally, is patented, although in the woods and on construction jobs it applies generally to any of this type of machine that makes its ponderous way on tracks.

Caterpillar sales totalled $401,000,000 last year, and a 25 per cent increase is expected this year.

There are no sales in Russia, though, since the U.S.S.R. makes its own "Cats," copied from U.S. machines they found after the Second World War.

"They did a darn good job, too. It was almost exact. Few could tell the difference," Mr. Eberhard said.

He himself knows every model from the ground up, and has driven all of them, but never lets up in trying to make them better. Engines even more powerful than that of the D9 are churning in the Peoria test pits, and gas turbines are being investigated.

"We are constantly working to improve the tractor," he said.

Winterization of company products is one of the larger programs, he said, with United States and Canadian military authorities as observers.

Injunction Won't Stop Dam-AG

Provincial government will use its legislative powers to ensure the construction of the Upper Campbell Lake dam against any court action.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today if the current injunction action against the raising of Butte Lake succeeds, the Legislature will be asked to make "simple changes" in legislation to clear the way.

The injunction action is being sought on grounds the government did not have sufficient powers under the existing legislation, particularly the Strathcona Park Act, to authorize the clearing and flooding of Butte Lake.

The injunction, now before the Supreme Court, was initiated by Victoria Mortgage Company employee Eric Chapman, who will be represented by Jake Gatehouse, and Tom Norris, Q.C.

The attorney-general and the B.C. Power Commission are the defendants in the injunction action.

Contractors already are working on the Upper Campbell dam. Contracts for the clearing have not been awarded. Bids were millions of dollars above the commission's estimates.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

When the readers write—stand well back.

Dear Mr. Roberts:

Humans are funny "things" and it seems difficult to educate them to ordinary principles of daily life. For instance, why waste the labor and paint on the diagonal line painted on the pedestrian lanes? I am a believer, in psychological suggestion, but apparently the public, not in general but 99 per cent of them, not only do not recognize the suggestion, but seem determined to ignore it.

Would it help to have signs placed at the crossing with, say, five-foot letters, reminding everyone to "keep to the right," also have them on every sidewalk?

F. K.

Better still, have everybody stay home and keep off the streets.

Dear Monte:

I appeal to you as a Victorian to do something to right the dastardly attempt perpetrated in that upstart village of Nanaimo whereby a loyal and true Victorian is penalized, if not insulted, when partaking of his rightful drink, namely, tea.

I was induced to attend a certain lunch counter in Nanaimo, and to partake of one of the "special" lunches, as noted on the board hanging on the wall... soup, meat, dessert, and coffee.

Being a true Victorian, I wanted my tea instead of that muddy concoction known as coffee, and do you know, they made an extra charge for tea, whereas coffee was included in the overall charge.

If that isn't an insult to all tea drinking Victorians, what else is it?

Please immediately form a society to protect tea drinking Victorians at Nanaimo.

"Bit of Old England."

Serves you right for going to Nanaimo. Going to Nanaimo is an insidious habit and can lead to worse, such as going to Vancouver.

Dear Roberts:

I am getting very tired of the awful puns you perpetrate in Between Times. Can't you write a column without making a pun?

Indignant Reader.

No.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Concrete work for the $17,500 model yacht pool now under construction at Holland Point is expected to be completed next week.

But a grand opening is not expected before next spring. Public works chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell said at noon that "it is my own thought that the landscaping won't probably be done till then."

The pool project was undertaken by the Capital City Grant Committee of which Mayor Claude Harrison and Ald. Dowell are city representatives. The committee administers an annual provincial grant of $50,000 for beautification of the capital city.

Rear Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, flag officer, Pacific Coast, presented CPO Maurice Biggs, HMCS Comox, with a 15-year service and good conduct badge last week. CPO Biggs, who lives in Victoria, enlisted at Esquimalt naval base Oct. 1, 1938.

Fine of $25 or five days in jail was imposed Thursday in Saanich police court on Ernest Raymond Pottle, Gordon Head barracks, when he entered a plea of guilty on a charge of driving without a license Oct. 1.

Peter Sweeney, 255 Burnside West, was remanded to Nov. 17 without plea when he appeared in Saanich police court Thursday on a charge involving installation of an electrical appliance without a permit.

Tickets are now on sale at Eaton's music centre for the Tuesday night piano recital of Jan Cherniavsky, noted Russian pianist.

His appearance here is sponsored by the Musical Arts Society. Recital will be at the Royal Theatre. His selections will lean to the romantic and impressionistic schools.

Mr. Cherniavsky has played in many world centres and has performed before the Earl of Athlone and the Duke of Connaught.

A civil defence orientation course for representatives of Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association annual convention in Vancouver will be held under provincial CD auspices Nov. 3 at Vancouver CD training centre. The convention opens Nov. 4.

Total fine of $50 or 15 days in jail was imposed on Thomas Horne, 973 Lovatt, when he appeared in Saanich police court Thursday charged under the semi-monthly payment of wages act.

The accused owed back wages of $1,300 to two persons.

Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association president Edward Ball will conduct the official opening of newly renovated ground floor of club premises, 1001 Wharf, at 7:30 tonight. Farmer Construction has been working on the building during the past five weeks and has added a new entrance, raised the auditorium stage, lowered the ceiling and redecorated. New furniture has also been added.

Alteration of the second floor will be the next job undertaken.

An intermunicipal committee meeting announced for Monday has been indefinitely postponed, it was learned at city hall today. The committee, headed by Ald. M. H. Mooney is currently concerned with organization of a union library and an amalgamated health department for Greater Victoria.

Radiological monitoring will be the subject of a civil defence instructors' course to open Nov. 28 at University of British Columbia, provincial CD headquarters announced today.

Under direction of Dr. F. B. Stacey, UBC department of physics, the course will run to Dec. 2 in the university physics department.

Employees who have been missed by Community Chest canvassers, or householders who were not at home when the collectors called, may leave contributions at three downtown points which have been authorized to accept them, officials of the fund drive announced today.

They are: Woodward's store on Douglas street; the information desk, main floor of the Hudson's Bay Company store; and the theatre-boxing desk of Eaton's in the Broad street annex.

'Pre-Logging' Described By Experts

Techniques of pre-logging to utilize every marketable tree in a forest stand were discussed this morning at the 46th annual session of the Pacific Logging Congress opened its final day here.

Five experts in pre-logging systems described equipment and skills needed to weed out "over ripe" trees prior to the main logging operation.

Pre-logging means to take out timber in danger of rotting or being blown over by the wind, leaving the main stand for harvesting when the majority of the trees are ready for the market.

A typical pre-logging operation takes place four to five years before the main stand is ready for a full-scale operation. Main difficulty is to yard out the pre-logged trees without damaging standing timber.

SPEED NEEDED

Alden Jones of the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Longview, Wash., told congress delegates in the Royal Theatre "speed is the secret of yarding out pre-logged trees."

He said the main need in the equipment field was not additional power, but speed.

"If you ride them out hard and fast, they'll bounce over windfalls and snags without damage to timber," he said.

Trees should be felled so the stumps are flush with the ground, he suggested. This removes the danger of timber falling in the main operation shattering on stumps left from pre-logging.

All five speakers at the session on pre-logging emphasized its importance in gaining the most dollar value from our timber resources. They pointed out that "over-ripe" trees should be taken out before they become a total loss.

Speakers, in addition to Mr. Jones, were: John Gaddal, Skagit Steel and Iron Works, Sedro-Wooley, Wash.; Nelson Jeffers, Meyerhauser Timber Co., Longview, Wash.; Henry Trobitz, Simpson Redwood Co., Arcata, Cal.; and Ralph Thomas, Howard-Cooper Corp., Portland.

Afternoon sessions of the Congress continued on the theme of maximum utilization of forest resources.

Car Total Wreck as Crash Injures Four

Four sailors were injured and the car they were riding in wrecked when it crashed into a cement retaining wall early today at the home of Howard Zaccarelli, 940 Craigflower.

In Naden Hospital is Richard H. McClure, HMCS Ontario, in "satisfactory" condition with multiple cuts.

Daniel A. McIsaac, Ernest Sisco and Gerald McLellan, all of HMCS Ontario, were treated at the navy hospital for cuts and released.

A passenger in the car, Wilbur Sellgren, also of HMCS Ontario, escaped injury.

McIsaac was driving the car north on Lampson when it failed to negotiate a left turn at Craigflower, police said, went out of control for about 100 feet and crashed into the six-inch thick cement driveway wall.

Police said the car, a 1948 model, was a total wreck.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Two Gordon Head soldiers and a civilian sustained minor injuries in a three-car crash at Cook and Yates at about 4:50 p.m. Thursday.

The soldiers, Francis Bernard Brannigan, 516 Michigan, and William D. Graham, 20, Queen's Own Rifles, were treated at naval hospital for cuts.

Ray R. Wells, 2649 Quadra, received treatment at Royal Jubilee for a head laceration.

Police said Brannigan was driving west on Yates when he collided with the Wells auto.

The panel truck driven by Brannigan then was in collision with an auto owned by Henry G. Price, 359 Robertson, which was stopped for a stop sign.

Robert Purser, 1603 Foul Bay Road, was in good condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Purser was admitted for observation after the car he was driving rolled over an embankment at Theis Lake Road and Trans-Canada highway at about 6:45 p.m.

Herbert Cecil Alexander, 62, Victoria native son and member of a well-known Victoria family, died Thursday in hospital.

He spent 40 years working at the Douglas Street brick plant operated by Baker Brick and Tile, and later taken over by Evans, Coleman & Johnson Bros. Ltd. His home was at 471 Gorge Road East.

Son of the late Charles Alexander, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. A. M. Alexander; a daughter, Mrs. J. Mathes, Ohio; a son, Herbert, with the RCAF at Aylmer, Ont.; a sister, Mrs. Maude Mitchell, Victoria, and a brother, Wally, in Vancouver.

Funeral services will be announced later by McCall Bros.

He himself knows every model from the ground up, and has driven all of them, but never lets up in trying to make them better. Engines even more powerful than that of the D9 are churning in the Peoria test pits, and gas turbines are being investigated.

"We are constantly working to improve the tractor," he said.

The attorney-general and the B.C. Power Commission are the defendants in the injunction action.

Contractors already are working on the Upper Campbell dam. Contracts for the clearing have not been awarded. Bids were millions of dollars above the commission's estimates.

B.C. Liberals Launch Drive For Members

B.C.'s Liberal party has launched a major membership campaign in preparation for the next provincial general election.

Executive secretary Grant Deachman said the campaign will be conducted "as a test of strength of the entire organization, by deploying it much as it would be for a general election campaign."

The campaign, under the name "Gold Card Campaign" will last until December 26.

New membership cards, in gold and red, will be issued to all old members, and new members picked up by the drive. Meetings are planned in Parksville, Chilliwack, Penikese and the Kootenays, and other centres throughout the province.

Part of the campaign involves collection of a "fighting fund," which will be used to expand activities of local associations.

Ground frosts, Sunshine Seen For Saturday

Ground frosts were predicted for the Victoria area early Saturday with the sun breaking through later. But day temperatures are expected to hover in the low 50s.

The cool forecast follows a sunshine record Thursday, Victoria enjoyed 10½ hours of sun—more than has ever been recorded for any Oct. 13.

Weatherman Bill Mackie says a weak disturbance is crossing into Washington and rain should go with it. It will be followed by colder air and clearing skies tonight.

Severe frost warnings have been issued for the Okanagan area but only slight ground frost is expected here. Saturday should be a real autumn day—bright but chilly.

Mr. Archeson announced to a meeting of officials of the two cities Sept. 13 that his firm planned a $3,000,000 ferry. He said it was hoped to put it in service next June.

At present there is no passenger or car ferry connecting Victoria and Port Angeles.

The shipping executive said he is still waiting to hear from his finance committee.

VICTORIA YMCA PHYSICAL DIRECTOR, Archie McKinnon, right, introduced new assistant, Douglas Riley, a graduate of Springfield (Mass.) College, to YMCA national secretary for physical education, Wes McVicar, also a Springfield grad, in Victoria on a biennial visit to the west coast.

Evangelistic Crusade To Start Here Sunday

In a week of church-going, Vancouver, begins a six-day beginning Sunday evening, preaching mission.

Mr. Cunningham, who spent 12 years directing 32 workers in the Belfast, Ireland, City Mission, is an evangelist whose rich Irish brogue has been heard in street meetings, on the docks and in the mills and shops.

Metropolitan Church, the church hall and the church basement are expected to be packed at 7:30 Sunday evening when the Rev. Robert Cunningham of St. Andrew's-Wesley Church,

REBUCK CHRISTIAN

Introduced to the Metropolitan Church congregation during August this summer as a "most robust Christian," the Irish evangelist drew ever-larger audiences each Sunday as word of his eloquence spread.

He will preach each night, Sunday through Friday, and will be supported at each service by choirs or combined choirs of the 15 United churches in the district. Upwards of 10,000 are expected to attend the six services.

The evangelistic mission was preceded last week by a ministerial retreat, and will be followed by city-wide meetings on stewardship, with speakers from the national general council of the church.

REDEDICATION

The evangelistic stress will culminate locally next spring, with a series of conferences for church elders and stewards, to be followed by services of rededication when members of every congregation will be asked to repeat their original vows.

At the biennial general council meeting of the national church, in September, 1956, plans will be laid for a coast-to-coast tour of international evangelists the following year.

Next week's preaching mission has been timed to coincide with the annual Laymen's Sunday in the church, when lay members of the congregation participate and speak at the services.

Laymen will be in the pulpits of most United churches at the morning services.

Island Tug Seeks Mooring Space On Lime Bay

City council Thursday night endorsed application by Island Tug & Barge Ltd. to lease a site on Lime Bay, on the industrial reserve, for additional mooring space and possible development as a terminus for a box-car barge service.

Island Tug's present facilities in the Inner Harbour are overtaxed by the company's expanding fleet, a spokesman said today.

The possible car-barge terminus has been under discussion for some time, he said, and may eventually be used in a Seattle-Victoria service.

The application for a lease was to the provincial lands branch, as the province owns the industrial reserve. Council was asked for its opinion, and decided to inform the lands superintendent it had no objection, provided there would be no tall buildings to interfere with a heliport which may be built in the future.

Financing Stalls Start On New Ferry

Financing arrangements are still keeping the proposed new Victoria-Port Angeles ferry in drawing board stages.

R. J. Acheson, president of Black Ball Transport Company, who recently said he was 98 per cent confident his company could put a new ferry on the run year round, told the Times from Seattle:

"As soon as there is something definite I will make an announcement—but it will be at least 30 days yet."

Mr. Archeson announced to a meeting of officials of the two cities Sept. 13 that his firm planned a $3,000,000 ferry. He said it was hoped to put it in service next June.

At present there is no passenger or car ferry connecting Victoria and Port Angeles.

The shipping executive said he is still waiting to hear from his finance committee.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—What was the origin of the name of Great Slave Lake in northern Canada? R.W.A.

A.—That large body of water in the Mackenzie District of the North West Territories northwest of Lake Athabasca, discovered by Samuel Hearne in 1771, was named from the Slave tribe of Athabaskan Indians, who formerly lived on its shores. Its area is computed at 11,170 square miles.

Q.—How long has the term "Mrs. Grundy" been used? L.T.A.—The Oxford English Dictionary traces it back to 1798, defining it as "the surname of an imaginary personage (Mrs. Grundy) proverbially referred to as a personification of the tyranny of social opinion in matters of conventional propriety."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Fall Harvest Brings Forth Abundance of Fresh Foods

By PENNY SAVER.

It's time to go food shopping again. The week-end is upon us, and we find that our fresh fruits and vegetables have run right out. There's plenty of produce on the markets for you to choose, though. So put your basket over your arm, and come along.

Tomatoes, fresh and firm, are a bright spot on the mass of greens and other colors on the stands. Hothouse tomatoes are 28 cents a pound, while field variety is 20 cents. Sure, it's still salad time! Green onions are just seven cents a bunch, and locally grown lettuce is a crisp 10 cents a head.

Swiss chard... now there's something a little different, something we don't eat regularly, and is nice for a change. It's selling at the low price of two pounds for 29 cents.

Brussels sprouts are solid and leafy now, and cost 25 cents a pound. Peas are another local product at the same price.

How about some corn on the cob? I think I could eat it every meal and never grow tired of it. It's now six for 35 cents. Carrots, whether alone or mixed with another vegetable, are a healthful addition to any meal. Eat them raw or cooked. The price is 19 cents for two bunches. Parsnips can be added to them, too. Or eat them alone and topped with a pat of butter. These are two bunches for a quarter. Another vegetable that looks very attractive when served with carrots is cauliflower. These frothy, white bundles of vitamins are 25 cents a head.

Have a pomegranate? Now there's an interesting fruit. Masses of little seeds surrounded with the most sumptuous fruit! Just peel back the hard skin, break off sections of the fruit, and enjoy a real treat. Just two for a quarter.

Plums are in abundance in town right now. You can choose from a wide variety. Prune plums are three pounds for 25 cents, while sweet plums are four pounds for 25 cents.

Greengages variety is two pounds for a quarter, and black diamond ones are four pounds for a quarter. For just 25 cents, you can also buy three peaches, rosy, cheeked and sweet.

Or perhaps you prefer pears. These are three or four for a quarter, depending on the variety. Blueberries are still around, and are selling at 33 cents a basket. In fact, you can still buy strawberries. Great big ones, too. They're 35 cents a basket. Cantaloupe is now 35 cents for two, and crabapples, so super for jelly, are two pounds for 23 cents.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I've been marketing.

AS WE LIVE

Frigidity Can Be Cured By Correcting Cause

By ELIZABETH B. HURLLOCK, PhD

No man likes to feel his expressions of affections are rebuffed by a woman.

Hurllock

(Q)—"Ever since I was a high school girl I have suffered from embarrassment and even fear when a boy wanted to kiss me. I still freeze up and try to pull away, although I am now 24 years old. Every time I go on dates I find myself on the defensive, which makes me seem very cold and unresponsive. I am so afraid my date will want to hold my hand or kiss me that I literally sit on the other side of the car."

"I know this is not the way to behave and it has cost me many dates. I would like to marry and have children, but I know this feeling will stand in my way. Was I born cold and unresponsive or what makes me act this way? And, can it be cured?" M. J. P.

(A)—No one is born "cold and unresponsive." People are made that way by some intense emotional experience, usually during their childhood. In girls, where "frigidity" or "coldness" is usually much stronger than in boys, a terrifying experience with a member of the opposite sex, or a sex education in which petting is forbidden is usually responsible for frigidity.

Frigidity can be cured, but not easily unless the person knows the cause and then tackles the problem at its root.

You doubtless have no memories of any experience that might have caused you to be frigid. Talk this over with your mother and see if she can remember any such experience.

You may need professional help. I suggest you consult your doctor, and if he advises it, go to a psychiatrist for further help.

If Teen-Ager Exercises She Can Slim Her Hips

(Q)—"I have very large hips and am only a teen-ager. This seems to run in my family. My weight is correct but I want to avoid the huge hips which my mother and all of the women in her family seem to have. What can I do? I do not want to lose weight."

(A)—You probably will always have this tendency but you can decrease this measurement with regular exercises for hip slimming. If you or any of my readers would like to have these send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

(Q)—"I am 14 years old. I do not have a middle name and this embarrasses me since all of my friends have a middle name. I always hate to sign my name or give it to anyone for this reason. My parents say that they think my name is prettier the way it is. How can I make them understand that I need a middle name?"

(A)—Many girls do not have middle names for the same reason. If this is all you have to worry about you are mighty lucky. The chances are that you would drop a middle name anyway, later on when you marry. Don't be a silly goof! Why care if you are a little different from everyone else you

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lafek Wed in Evening Ceremony

While David Boone played traditional wedding music, Miss Wilma Evelyn Ann Goddard, entered Wilkinson Road United Church recently on the arm of her father, for her marriage to Alan Charles Lafek.

Rev. E. J. Staley performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Goddard, 4131 Rose-dale Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lafek, West Saanich Road, Royal Oak.

Baskets of pink, white and autumn-toned chrysanthemums were placed in the church, and sprays of white and mauve bell heather marked the pews.

The bride was gown in a waltz-length dress of white nylon net over taffeta inset with motifs of Chantilly lace. She wore a matching lace jacket fashioned with a Peter Pan collar and long lily point sleeves. Her imported veil of embroidered nylon illusion net was caught to a halo of opalescent sequins, and she carried a cascade of white carnations and red and white roses.

Miss Mildred Jackson was maid of honor and only attendant. She chose a pink waltz-length gown of nylon net fashioned with a tiered skirt. She wore a pink halo dotted with pearl sequins, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses.

Carnival Night

RAY DRAKE FIGHTS TONY BALDONI ON C-4 AT 6

THE PRINCESS ROYAL—Extensive radio and TV coverage has been planned for the visit of Her Royal Highness, the Princess Royal, to the West Coast by the CBC. Principal radio show will be an actuality report on Sunday at 6:30 p.m. from Victoria as her Royal Highness carries out a ceremonial parade and inspection of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) of which she is colonel-in-chief. A "live" TV show on her arrival in Vancouver will be seen on Friday at 2:30 p.m. The telecast will originate at the Vancouver waterfront and will cover the ceremonies as she disembarks from HMCS Athabaskan.

THE NEW SHOWS—If you haven't sampled the TV wares of ace suspense man Alfred Hitchcock yet we suggest you do so. The director-producer of such movie hits as "Rear Window" and "Dial M for Murder" can be seen on Channel 11 Sundays at 9:30. Not only are his 30-minute dramas good but he himself is priceless. . . . Another show we are becoming attracted to is Warner Bros. Presents which occupies Channel 3, Tuesdays, commencing at 7:30. Lasting an hour, they are listed as King's Row (domestic dramas); Casablanca (thrillers) and Cheyenne (westerns). Those we have seen to date have provided satisfying entertainment. Small daughter Robin and self were entranced Wednesday evening by Disneyland's new series, particularly the wondrous cartoon, "Jack and the Beanstalk."

Kiddies' Korner
5:00: Roy Rogers, Channel 2; Pinky Lee, 4; Mickey Mouse, 5; Engineer Walt's Autogyro show, 11; Western Movie, 12; Wally's Hi-Jinks, 13.
5:30: Howdy Dood, Channels 4 and 2.
6:00: Sherlock Holmes, Channel 2; Annie Oakley, 5; Cartoon Time, 12; Johnny Jupiter, 13.
6:30: Ramar of the Jungle, 13.
7:00: Range Rider, Channel 11; Space Rangers, 13.
7:30: Rin Tin Tin, Channel 5.

Sport
6:00: Channel 4—Boxing: Middleweights Ray Drake and Tony Baldoni square off at Syracuse in a 10-rounder. Both are unranked.
6:45: Channel 4—Ex-Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy predicts the outcome of week-end football games.
7:30: Channel 4—NW Fishing and Hunting.
8:00: Channel 13—High School Football.
10:00: Channel 2

Youth, 17, Guilty Of Murder to Hang

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Ronald Reid, 17, Thursday was convicted of murder in the gun-and-bludgeon slaying last Aug. 23 of Benjamin Spillerman, 50-year-old Cardinal merchant. He was sentenced to be hanged Jan. 10.

The Ontario Supreme Court jury in returning its verdict, recommended that Reid be shown mercy because of his age.

The trial judge, Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson, said the jury's recommendation will be sent on to "the proper authorities."

During the three-day trial, the crown called 27 witnesses. No evidence was offered by the defence. A statement police said Reid

"I told him to put his hands up" the statement said. "He put them up and started walking back to where the shoes are back there. When we were going back there he turned around quick and he stabbed at me with the scissors. I grabbed the scissors away from him. Then he turned around and he tripped, I guess, and the gun went off, and kept going off, I guess."

"I still had the scissors in my hand and I stabbed him with the scissors. Benny picked up a broom that was standing there, and kept hitting me with it, or tried to hit me, but he hit a bunch of shoes and knocked them down. I took the broom away from him, and kept hitting him with it until it broke. Then I went out."

Teen-age Mail

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I have a very serious problem and would appreciate it if you could help me. Recently I met one of my cousins for the first time. He now lives only a few miles from me. Somehow we have fallen in love. When we go out on dates my mother thinks I am with his sister. We know we can't get too serious but we are too much in love to just forget each other. What can we do? We will appreciate any help you can give us.

Lorry and Jerry.

will be easier than marrying and perhaps later on having a youngster who is handicapped. That is something both you and your husband would regret the rest of your lives.

Since handicapped children can't be the result of such a marriage, I do not believe you have the right to think only of yourselves, but should look into the future and decide that you are not right for each other—even though you may feel heart-broken now.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

My mother says I shouldn't have a diary, at the age of 14. Most of the girls I know have kept one since they were 13. I didn't mind not having one last year. But my 14th year of life has been wonderful and I never want to forget it.

I am entering high school and know many interesting things will happen to me and not just with boys, either. Mother says a diary will cause blackmail and trouble. But I do not do things I am ashamed of and never will. I hardly think it would hurt to tell of parties, dates and boy friends. Please give me your opinion of this situation.

A Girl Without a Diary.

Dear G.W.A.D.:

I cannot see any reason why you should not keep a diary if you want to. Many girls do keep one and enjoy reading over and reliving some of their happy memories.

I don't understand why your mother thinks a diary might be cause for blackmail or any other trouble since it is a personal thing and is not supposed to be read by anyone but the writer. So if there is nothing derogatory in your diary, about yourself or others, there is no apparent way it can lead to serious consequences.

AIR FORCE BENEFITS

Spacemen Craze Helps Recruiting

Switch from cowboys to space-ambaut, AFC. CD, said in an interview at Government Street in Canadian air force recruiting. "Nobody wants to be a cowboy anymore," the Ottawa officer remarked in reference to the healthy enlistment picture of today.

There is no activity in the world today with more impact than aviation," Group Captain J. G. Arch-

Young men looking to the future read much about vertical lift aircraft, space travel, space satellites and atomic-powered aircraft which may conceivably stay aloft indefinitely, he said.

The air force has the advantage over the other two services in providing opportunities of this nature, the personnel expert pointed out. Group Capt. Archambault agreed there is strong competition for bright young men from private industry in Canada, but the air force too is big business.

"Opportunities in the air force are practically unlimited. We have more than 50,000 people and a billion-dollar annual budget. There are not many companies can say that."

Enlistment in the future will probably continue to be favorable, the officer said, because the depression crop of children is practically all "used up" as an enlistable group and the large 1946-47 group is on its way.

"We've always had good recruiting results from B.C., but like other areas it fluctuates," the director said.

After a visit to Royal Roads Canadian Services College, Group Capt. Archambault will return to Ottawa tonight with F/L A. M. Hay, also of RCAF headquarters.

French Premier Goaded to Ask Confidence Vote

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure, angry and weary after 14 hours of non-stop debate, cut through the National Assembly's monumental confusion today and demanded a formal vote of confidence on his Algerian policies.

The demand for a formal vote of confidence which automatically staked the life of his government in the outcome was a drastic move, but it gave him four days to manoeuvre. Much of the Assembly is hostile and he must win over the deputies before the formal vote on Tuesday if he is to survive.

Former Premier Paul Reynaud warned that a new cabinet crisis might lead to new elections in November and the absence of France from the Big Four conference at Geneva.

The angry premier ordered the vote shortly after 5 a.m. at end of a night long session which it appeared his attempts to win Assembly approval on a routine vote on his Algerian policy had no chance of success.

65 Today

President Eisenhower celebrated his 65th birthday today in hospital surrounded by gifts and flowers and with his medical bulletin containing word of another exciting sign in his recovery from a heart attack. "His condition has stabilized at a satisfactory level," it said.

Float Bridge For Okanagan

B.C.'s toll bridge authority is running into snags which may kill Premier W. A. C. Bennett's proposed bridge across Lake Okanagan between Kelowna and Westbank.

Engineers are working on plans for a pontoon bridge, after every other type of crossing was washed out by engineering studies.

The studies showed bridges of the cantilever and suspension type are not practical. They have also showed it would be impossible to make a fill causeway across the lake. "A pontoon bridge is our last recourse," an informed source said today. He said plans call for an opening at one end of the bridge to allow boat and barge traffic to get through.

Kelowna and Westbank are now served by ferries.

'It's My Job' Says Tupper

VANCOUVER (CP)—R. H. Tupper, whose handling of his royal commission on police affairs has been criticized in newspaper editorials and by police chief Mulligan's lawyer, said Thursday: "It's my job. I am doing it. I take responsibility." He made the statement in answer to a front-page editorial published by the Vancouver Sun, which asked Attorney-General Bonner to step in to bring the inquiry into the conduct and administration of the force to a successful conclusion.

Margaret Dines With Peter; No Statement Planned Now

Clarence House Asks for Privacy

LONDON (CP)—Clarence House, home of Princess Margaret and Queen Mother Elizabeth, issued a statement tonight declaring that no announcement concerning Margaret's personal future is contemplated at present.

The official statement added that Margaret had asked the Queen's press secretary to express the hope that the press and public will extend their "customary courtesy and co-operation in respecting her (Margaret's) privacy."

The statement was issued a short time after Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend left London separately for unannounced destinations.

Text of the statement issued by Clarence House, the official residence of the young princess, follows:

"In view of the varied reports which have been published, the press secretary of the Queen is authorized to say that no announcement concerning Princess Margaret's personal future is at present contemplated.

"The Princess Margaret has asked the press secretary to express the hope that the press and public will extend to Her Royal Highness their customary courtesy and co-operation in respecting her privacy."

The Clarence House announcement was the first official statement in any way relating to Margaret's personal life since rumors of a romance and possible marriage to Townsend have become the talk of Britain.

MARGARET-PETER TRYST INSPIRED BY PHILIP?

LONDON (UP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is reported in court circles to be the Cupid who suggested Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend meet.

The worldly-wise Prince Philip, it was said, told Margaret, "you haven't seen this man in two years."

"Why don't you see him and see how you feel?"

His advice led to Thursday night's meeting in Clarence House and to the dinner-tryst in Windsor Castle tonight.

ROMANCE SIDELIGHTS

Mob Swarms Around Home of Princess

LONDON (UP)—An excited crowd, drawn by banner headlines in the London newspapers, clustered outside Clarence House today.

Another crowd formed, under grey skies, at fashionable 19 Lowndes Square, where Townsend stayed until his departure this afternoon for tonight's dinner engagement with the Princess.

Stenographers and shop-girls bustled up to Clarence House during their lunch-hours and stared quietly at the curtained windows.

Police wouldn't let them come closer than 20 yards of the front door.

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden let it be known today he would pay his scheduled weekly call on Queen Elizabeth Tuesday.

He made the announcement from his country home.

Sir Anthony returns to London Monday.

The Queen comes home from Balmoral the same day.

LONDON (UP)—Buckingham Palace has an easy route by which it can deny or correct—without taking official cognizance—reports about Princess Margaret or any member of the Royal Family. That is by giving off the record "guidance" to the two reporters who are regularly stationed at the palace for Britain's two domestic news agencies.

These two men, the only journalists attached to the palace, then write on their own authority that there is no truth or foundation to the report in question.

At no time since the Townsend-Margaret reports began two years ago have the two palace correspondents ever been counselled to take it easy on a romance. Most significantly, they had no negative guidance today.

LONDON (UP)—A front door and a back door provided the setting of all Thursday night's drama at Clarence House, setting in more than two years of Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Townsend.

The back door, marked "household officers," let Townsend into Clarence House. He had parked his car in the St. James Palace courtyard in the knowledge his red and white diplomatic licence plates would be recognized by the throng of reporters present. He used the back door because

Princess Speeds In Curtained Car To Windsor Meeting

By GENE PATTERSON

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret went to dinner at Windsor with RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend tonight, giving open encouragement to the expectation that they are going to marry.

The lovely young Princess, dressed all in white, sped in a Royal black limousine from London to Windsor accompanied only by her youthful lady-in-waiting, Iris Peake.

Townsend had driven away from London earlier for a weekend at the Windsor country estate of Mrs. John Wills, Margaret's cousin and their common companion.

Somehow along the way, the Queen Mother apparently was dropped off and Margaret proceeded to Windsor with her lone companion.

British press and public were swept by speculation.

Townsend's call on the Princess Thursday night at Clarence House was widely interpreted as a move calculated to prepare the people for a Royal wedding announcement.

Today, crowds—mostly of women (and reporters)—besieged Clarence House, Princess Margaret's home in London and the nearby 19 Lowndes Square mansion, where Townsend is the guest of the Marquess of Abergavenny.

Without official guidance, the

When Townsend emerged at 2.50 p.m. eight policemen held back the staring, interested throng. Many of the women called "good luck." Grave and unsmiling, he said, "thank you."

But the 40-year-old hero pilot dodged reporters' questions, maintaining that "I cannot say anything."

He drove off alone in his green sports car, saying only that "I am going away for the week end."

Thus, the 15-room Wills house set in 50 acres of woodland was a refuge for the weekend.

LONDON (UP)—Constitutional experts don't believe the Queen will become involved in an announcement about Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Townsend.

They expect a decision by Margaret to marry the divorced father of two children would be revealed first in a statement by the Princess announcing merely she is renouncing her royal rights.

The studied absence of Royal Family guidance leads Britons to the conclusion the marriage is on—not off.

UN Vote on Council Vacancy Deadlock

Russia Drops Poland as Candidate
For Yugoslavia; Filipinos Fight

By BRUCE W. MUNN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Russia and the United States wound up in a deadlock today in the United Nations' General Assembly, with neither able to obtain a required two-thirds majority vote for its candidate for a Security Council seat.

After six inconclusive ballots, Assembly president Jose Maza adjourned the meeting on the suggestion of Britain and Russia. Both suggested that the Assembly should resume its voting next Tuesday.

Russia dropped its candidate, Poland, after five ballots and spread the word that it would accept Yugoslavia as an "Eastern European" candidate. This was ironic, since Yugoslavia's election over Czechoslovakia in 1949 was the first break in the 1946 "gentlemen's agreement" that one non-permanent council seat should go to a Soviet-bloc country.

The Philippines, campaigning strenuously under the leadership of fiery Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo with the backing of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., remained in the running.

The Philippines came within one vote of election when 38 countries balloted for it on the third round. At that point, 39 votes were required for election.

The election procedure requires a two-thirds majority of countries present and voting. Abstentions may change the number of votes required for election from ballot to ballot.

Cuba, with 53 votes, and Australia, with 42, were elected on the first ballot to succeed Brazil and New Zealand, respectively, on the council next Jan. 1.

The assembly also decided to postpone elections for vacancies on the economic and social council and the trusteeship council.

Observers foresaw a busy week-end of "horse-trading" involving seats on the other councils as Russia and the U.S. sought to nail down a majority for their respective Security Council candidates.

STURGEON FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A family of five is believed to have died in the flames that destroyed a two-room shack near here early today.

Police tentatively identified the dead as Percy Olmstead, 37; his wife, Simone, 27; and their sons, Leonard, 8; Ronald, 5; and Gerald, 5 months.

Dr. Horace Palement, coroner, said positive identification of the bodies and the number of dead is not yet certain. Positive identification will be made when the ruins cool down.

Pearson in Ceylon,
Then to Singapore

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada landed here today on his way to the Singapore conference of the Colombo plan for aid to under-developed countries.

After the conference he is expected to go to Paris for an Oct. 25 meeting of the NATO foreign ministers.

WIRE BRIEFS

Fish Closure Ordered

VANCOUVER (CP)—Salmon net fishing in waters between Vancouver Island and the mainland will be suspended at 5 p.m. Sunday for the remainder of the season, it was announced here today.

$1 Million RCN Fire

HALIFAX (CP)—Fire cleaned out a partly completed two-service defence training school here Thursday night and preliminary estimates of the damage to the four-story building ranged to $1,000,000.

Footprints Clue

PRINCETON, B.C. (BUP)—Footprints found in the snow in the rugged mountain area near here are believed to be those of missing lawyer John Ewing.

Ewing has been missing in the area between the old Hope-Princeton trail and the new highway since Saturday. More than 100 persons are in the search for the Princeton lawyer, which resumed again at dawn today.

Firebug Foils

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A firebug escaped capture after being spotted by two motorists early today at the scene of an arson fire.

Police said Fred Robinson and Harvey Lemont were driving past a partly-demolished house when they spotted the young man on the porch and saw smoke coming from the structure.

PUZZLERS PROVED LAX; PRIZE JUMPS TO $150

Thousands of Times' crossword puzzlers last week wrote the word "tax" in one of the three-letter spaces with the result that no one completed a correct solution.

Total prize for the popular contest this week, therefore, jumps to $150.

"Lax" was the right answer for three-letter puzzlers. The clue read: "—officials aren't likely to be particularly popular." Tax officials have an honest job to do and will only be particularly unpopular with tax dodgers. As far as people in general are concerned it is the lax official who is to be condemned.

"Meal" seemed to be just as difficult to arrive at, most contestants giving the answer as "meat." "Boss," "fit" and "tie" were other stumbling blocks.

Complete answer and explanation of last week's puzzle together with a new puzzle for this week are published on Page 25 of today's Times.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT ON
ROYAL ROMANCE NOWCoffin Wins
New ReprieveCabinet Orders Supreme Court
To Review Death Sentence

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet today ordered the Supreme Court of Canada to hear Wilbert Coffin's appeal from a murder conviction.

The cabinet did not grant a stay of execution but officials said this will be done as a matter of course by the Quebec authorities. Stay of execution comes under provincial jurisdiction.

Coffin, 44, was to have been hanged a week from today at Montreal's Bordeaux jail.

Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott of the Supreme Court of Canada on Sept. 2 refused Coffin's application to appeal to the Supreme Court.

He was supported by the other eight members of the court Oct. 4. They ruled that the court did not have jurisdiction to hear the appeal.

The cabinet was scheduled to review Coffin's case next Wednesday but did so today in an unscheduled meeting.

Coffin was sentenced to death for the murder of Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., one of three bear-hunters found dead in the Gaspé peninsula in 1953.

French Premier
Goaded to Ask Confidence Vote

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure, angry and weary after 14 hours of non-stop debate, cut through the National Assembly's monumental confusion today and demanded a formal vote of confidence on his Algerian policies.

The demand for a formal vote of confidence which automatically staked the life of his government in the outcome was a drastic move, but it gave him four days to manoeuvre. Much of the Assembly is hostile and he must win over the deputies before the formal vote on Tuesday if he is to survive.

Former Premier Paul Reynaud warned that a new cabinet crisis might lead to new elections in November and the absence of France from the Big Four conference at Geneva.

The angry premier ordered the vote shortly after 5 a.m. at end of a night long session which it appeared his attempts to win Assembly approval on a routine vote on his Algerian policy had no chance of success. Four days of politicking—and reluctance of some deputies to vote a government out of office—may increase his chances of success.

Nylons Catch
Eyes of Shy
Red Sailors

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. (UP)—Some 3,000 Russian sailors from a Soviet goodwill fleet stocked up today on such capitalist frills as nylon stockings and ladies' silk underwear.

The Russian seamen took their cue from Valeria Mirkulov, 24, a cadet officer aboard the Soviet cruiser Sverdlov, and went on a wild shopping spree for presents for their wives and girl friends back home.

"I think the English girls dress much more brightly than those in Russia," Mirkulov said.

A special store equipped with Russian translators reported nylons were going at the rate of five pairs a minute. The Russians also bought brightly colored scarves and frilly underthings.

The Russian sailors got a big reception when they came ashore for the first time Thursday. But one English girl said they are rather shy.

'That's a Lot of Log'

Tom Ross, and his son, Mike, were visitors to the B.C. Equipment Show being held in conjunction with the 46th annual Pacific Logging Congress, which ends here today. Log weighs 21 tons, scales out to 3,800 board feet of lumber, is suspended in mid-air by one of biggest pieces of equipment on display, giant Insley log loader. See stories, Page 17. (Times Photo.)

MARGARET-PETER TRYST
INSPIRED BY PHILIP?

LONDON (UP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is reported in court circles to be the Cupid who suggested Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend meet.

The worldly-wise Prince Philip, it was said, told Margaret, "you haven't seen this man in two years."

"Why don't you see him and see how you feel?"

His advice led to Thursday night's meeting in Clarence House and to the dinner-tryst in Windsor Castle tonight.

65 Today

President Eisenhower celebrated his 65th birthday today in hospital, surrounded by gifts and flowers and with his medical bulletin containing word of another encouraging sign in his recovery from a heart attack. "His cardiogram has stabilized at a satisfactory level," it said.

Way I see it, a lot of 'em London gossips ought t' be set on each other. But I guess nobody'd be interested.

Thet wuz a swell day yestiddy. Knew if we waited long enuff we'd git summer.

Expectations Soar as Princess, Peter Dine

LONDON (CP)—Clarence House, home of Princess Margaret and Queen Mother Elizabeth, issued a statement tonight declaring that no announcement concerning Margaret's personal future is contemplated at present.

The official statement added that Margaret had asked the Queen's press secretary to express the hope that the press and public will extend their "customary courtesy and co-operation in respecting her (Margaret's) privacy."

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret went to dinner at Windsor with RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend tonight, giving open encouragement to the expectation that they are going to marry.

The lovely young Princess, dressed all in white, sped in a Royal black limousine from London to Windsor accompanied only by her youthful lady-in-waiting, Iris Peake.

Townsend had driven away from London earlier for a week-end at the Windsor country estate of Mrs. John Wills, Margaret's cousin and their common companion.

Night Ride in Curtained Car

Margaret's swift night ride in a curtained car seemed to be an obvious act of faith designed to show the British people and all the world her feeling for the divorced group captain.

It was generally believed from her conduct over the last two days that an engagement announcement is imminent.

But the Royal Family still deliberately stood aside and said nothing.

Without official guidance, the British press and public were swept by speculation.

Townsend's call on the Princess Thursday night at Clarence House was widely interpreted as a move calculated to prepare the people for a royal wedding announcement.

Today, crowds—mostly of women (and reporters)—besieged Clarence House, Princess Margaret's home in London and the nearby 19 Lowndes Square mansion, where Townsend is the guest of the Marquess of Abergavenny.

When Townsend emerged at 2.50 p.m. eight policemen held back the staring, interested throng. Many of the women called "good luck." Grave and unsmiling, he said, "thank you."

But the 40-year-old hero pilot dodged reporters' questions, maintaining that "I cannot say anything."

He drove off alone in his green sports car, saying only that "I am going away for the week-end."

When Townsend roared through the entrance and up the gravelled driveway, a very large policeman slammed the gate and barred the newsmen.

tone and with a cherubic smile, he added:

"There's no way to get in or out of this place except these gates. So you don't have to worry about the Group Captain escaping. And you don't have to worry about getting in either, guv'nor."

Thus, the 15-room Wills house set in 50 acres of woodland was a refuge for the week-end.

PUZZLERS PROVED LAX;
PRIZE JUMPS TO $150

Thousands of Times' crossword puzzlers last week wrote the word "tax" in one of the three-letter spaces with the result that no one completed a correct solution.

Total prize for the popular contest this week, therefore, jumps to $150.

"Lax" was the right answer for three-letter puzzlers. The clue read: "—officials aren't likely to be particularly popular." Tax officials have an honest job to do and will only be particularly unpopular with tax dodgers. As far as people in general are concerned it is the lax official who is to be condemned.

"Meal" seemed to be just as difficult to arrive at, most contestants giving the answer as "meat." "Boss," "fit" and "tie" were other stumbling blocks.

Complete answer and explanation of last week's puzzle together with a new puzzle for this week are published on Page 25 of today's Times.
